DON VOWS TO FREEZE MIGRATION FROM THIRD WORLD COUNTRIES

US President Donald Trump on Thursday threatened to suspend migration a day after an Afghan shot two National Guard soldiers

NEW ESCALATION IN ANTI-MIGRATION STANCE

Trump's social media post, which also threatened to reverse "millions" of admissions granted under his predecessor Joe Biden, marks a new escalation in the anti-migration stance. Trump said earlier that Sarah Beckstrom, a 20-year-old West Virginia National Guard member deployed in Washington as part of his crackdown on crimes, had died from wounds

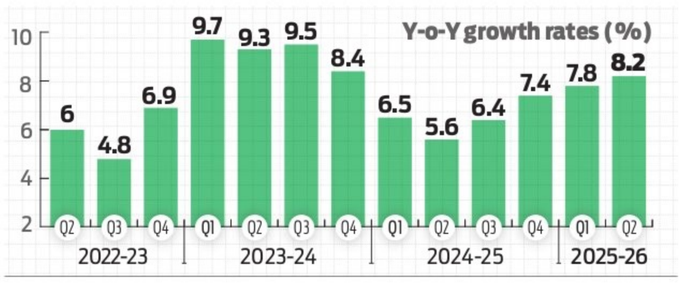
GATHERING MOMENTUM



At 8.2%, GDP grows at fastest pace in six qtrs

PUSHPITA DEY @ New Delhi

INDIA's economy grew at 8.2% in the second quarter of FY26, beating all estimates and marking the fastest pace in six quarters. This is a big jump from the 5.6% growth in the same period last fiscal. Most analysts had expected the Q2 growth to be in the range of 7–7.5%.

The 8.2% GDP growth is very encouraging. It reflects the impact of our pro-growth policies and reforms. It also reflects the hard work and enterprise of our people

Narendra Modi, PM

The strong performance is attributed to a boost in manufacturing, rising rural demand, and sustained growth of the services sector. Manufacturing grew at a robust 9.1% —more than four times the 2.2% recorded a year ago. Economists attribute this partly to frontloading of exports to the US ahead of the 50% tariff increase.

Construction also saw healthy expansion, growing at 7.2%. The services sector continued its positive momentum, clocking 9.2% growth in Q2 compared to 7.2% a year earlier.

Private consumption remained strong with 7.9% growth, compared to 6.4% last year and 7% in Q1. Gross fixed capital formation — an indicator of infrastructure and asset creation — maintained its rise at 7.3% versus 6.7% a year ago, although slightly lower than the 7.8% in Q1.

"The confluence of stable inflation, sustained public capex, and reform momentum positions the economy to navigate risks, as reflected in upward revisions to FY26 GDP growth projections by various agencies," said Chief Economic Advisor V Anantha Nageswaran. He added that India becoming a $4 trillion economy "as early as next year" is not unrealistic.

The government has highlighted the role reductions in GST rates played in lowering the cost of goods and services, supporting consumption and expanding the tax base.

However, economists cautioned that slower nominal growth could pose risks. Nominal GDP grew 8.7% in Q2, reaching an estimated ₹85.25 lakh crore. P15

Putin visit to boost defence ties

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

DEFENCE negotiations will be the key agenda of Russian President Vladmir Putin's visit to India from December 4 to 5, which is expected to take the strategic bilateral ties to the next level.

Announcing the two-day visit, the Ministry of External Affairs (MEA) said on Friday that Putin is coming to hold the annual India-Russia summit talks with Prime Minister Narendra Modi.

The visit will give an opportunity for the two leaders to review the progress in bilateral relations, set the vision to strengthen the 'special and privileged strategic partnership' and exchange views on regional and global issues of mutual interest, the MEA said.

Terming it a "visit of great importance", the Kremlin said the current geopolitical issues will also come up in talks.

The focus of the summit will be "broader elements of cooperation on defence", said Defence Secretary R K Singh said while speaking at an event in Delhi on Friday. He said the strategic S-400 air defence systems may be on the table though no announcements are likely. "This meeting will focus on the larger defence partnership and resolving delivery delays," he said.

The S-400 played a crucial role during Operation Sindoor as it successfully targeted multiple Pakistani fighters and aircraft deep inside Pakistan.

India has already signed contracts for the S-400 systems with Russia, but deliveries have faced delays.

Singh confirmed that Russia has promised to deliver the remaining equipment in the financial year 2026-27.

80 DEAD AS CYCLONE DITWAH RAVAGES LANKA

JAYANTH JACOB @ New Delhi

AT least 80 people have died and more than 25 remain missing till Friday night in Sri Lanka, which is bearing the brunt of massive destruction caused by Cyclone Ditwah.

With torrential rains, landslides and floods displacing thousands in the island nation, India has launched a swift humanitarian response for the island nation.

New Delhi has rushed emergency relief under Operation Sagar Bandhu, with Prime Minister Narendra Modi conveying condolences and stressing India's commitment to stand by its closest maritime neighbour.

By Friday evening, Sri Lanka's Disaster Management Centre (DMC) said the cyclone had affected 43,991 people. Many regions of the country remain submerged and inaccessible, with officials warning that rising water levels in the Kelani and Attanagalu rivers pose a grave threat to Colombo and the populous Gampaha district. Outages have hit nearly a third of the region, and two major hydropower plants have been shut down.

Responding to the escalating crisis, India has so far dispatched 4.5 tonnes of dry rations and 2 tonnes of fresh rations, including staple foods, ready-to-eat meals, dairy products, bakery items and other essential provisions. Additional survival supplies have also been handed over. The relief consignments were delivered by INS Vikrant and INS Udayagiri, both docked in Sri Lanka, an official release said.

Ditwah is likely to reach southwest Bay of Bengal near north Tamil Nadu, Puducherry and south Andhra Pradesh by November 30, IMD said. P7

B'luru shivers at 16°-26°C, AQI levels rise

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

AS the city braces for winter, temperature below normal was recorded on Friday, with the minimum temperature being recorded at 16.1°C and the maximum at 25.2°C, that is 1.1°C and 2.2°C below normal, according to readings from Indian Metrology Department (IMD).'

The maximum and minimum temperatures are very likely to be around 25°C and 16°C respectively until Saturday and cloudy sky in the city. The dip in the temperature comes as a cyclonic storm Ditwah developed over the southwest Bay of Bengal and adjoining the Sri Lanka coast, as per the IMD forecast. Additionally, the maximum temperature according to IMD stood at 25.3°C against the normal maximum temperature of 27.4°C on Friday in the city.

The forecast also notes that the movement of the cyclonic storm is also expected to likely bring light to moderate rain or thundershowers at a few places over Bengaluru (Rural), Bengaluru (Urban), Chamarajanagara, Chikkaballapura and other districts of south interior Karnataka over the next week.

The Air Quality Index (AQI) in various parts of the city has seen a downward trend due to the cloudy weather prevailing in the city; as the AQI recorded at the Central Silk Board station was at 156 on Friday as compared to the AQI 134 on Thursday, as per KSPCB data.

Siddu, DKS to talk over breakfast today, outcome will decide their Delhi visit

DEVARAJ B HIREHALLI @ Bengaluru

AFTER a bitter play of words which only cleaved the rift wider on Thursday, Karnataka Chief Minister Siddaramaiah and Deputy CM DK Shivakumar are sitting down to breakfast on Saturday morning.

The twist to the leadership crisis came late Friday evening, when the Congress high command advised the two leaders to hold discussions at their level. AICC general secretary (organisation) KC Venugopal called them and conveyed the message.

"The high command called me and Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar and told us to meet, so I have called the DCM for breakfast. Shivakumar has also been saying he will agree to whatever the high command says," Siddaramaiah told reporters at Vidhana Soudha on Friday evening, adding that he will go to Delhi if invited.

Siddaramaiah and D K Shivakumar

"There is no change in my stand. I have already said I will follow what the party high command tells me. I will say the same now and tomorrow," he reiterated. They are scheduled to meet around 9.30am for breakfast at the CM's official residence Cauvery, according to sources.

If they are able to resolve the issue at their level, the high command will put on hold the meeting scheduled at 7pm Sunday in New Delhi, for some time, sources added. It was said that senior leader Sonia Gandhi would chair the meeting to resolve the leadership 'crisis' that has been haunting the Congress in Karnataka.

Earlier in the day, RDPR and IT/BT Minister Priyank Kharge, son of AICC president Mallikarjuna Kharge, had told reporters there was no official information on the Delhi meeting. "If Kharge saheb says so, the meeting will be held. If the AICC president calls, everyone will go. The high command leaders have a sense of timing. This has been happening in the 130-year-old party," he said.

Priyank on Friday met Shivakumar and held deliberations for over half-an-hour before leaving for Delhi. P4

SC frees woman jailed for changing six lawyers

UDAYAN KISHORE @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court has ordered the release of a woman jailed by a lower court for changing her lawyers six times during an appeal in a cheque bounce case, describing the order as "appalling and shocking."

The case involves two dishonoured cheques issued by the woman's mother, worth ₹7 lakh and ₹5.02 lakh respectively. The trial court convicted and sentenced both the mother and daughter. The woman subsequently filed an appeal before the sessions court in Faridabad, which has been pending for eight years, the bench noted.

Meanwhile, the sessions court cancelled their bail and ordered their custody. The mother and daughter challenged this decision in the high court and later the Supreme Court.

A bench comprising Justices Arvind Kumar and N V Anjaria, in an order dated November 27, noted that the mother had passed away, but the appellate court had not accepted her death certificate. The sessions court directed the concerned Station House Officer to verify the legitimacy of the certificate. The bench observed that if the lawyer was not assisting the court, the proper action would have been to appoint an amicus curiae or allow the accused time to arrange alternate counsel — not to jail her.

The court ordered the woman's release on a personal bond of ₹1 lakh."It is appalling and shocking that the appellate court insisted on the appellant's presence on every hearing date, particularly after suspending the sentence already passed," the bench said.

Officials warn of action for linking 8-yr-old's death to contamination

MOHAMMED YACOOB @Bengaluru

FOLLOWING reports about an outbreak of waterborne disease at Prestige Falcon City on Kanakapura Main Road and a 8-year-old boy's death being linked to contamination, the apartment owners' association and doctors from the Bengaluru South City Corporation have warned of action against those who attempt to spread panic.

Meanwhile, officials from the Karnataka State Pollution Control Board (KSPCB) visited the apartment complex and collected water samples on Friday. The officials said there is no outbreak as such, barring a few cases of infection reported from the last three weeks.

"Since some reports are being spread, we had to come and collect samples. The Corporation officials have already taken measures and issued directions to residents to keep sumps and overhead tanks clean three week ago when a few cases were reported. We collected samples for reconfirmation," said an official from KSPCB.

The apartment has around 2,500 units. As a precautionary measure, the South City Corporation officials have already asked the apartment association to clean 80 overhead tanks. Following the directions, the association shut the swimming pool eight days ago, and also closed a hotel inside the premises four days ago for safety, he association said. The water samples tested earlier had shown negative results and in stool tests in one or two cases, E Coli and Salmonella bacteria linked to food were found.

KSPCB officials hold a meeting with residents of Prestige Falcon City on Kanakapura Main Road on Friday | EXPRESS

"The 8-year-old boy died due to chronic kidney and liver ailments and also had epilepsy. Some are linking it to water-based infection. It appears there is some agenda behind spreading such reports," said a member of the association.

Dr Balasundar, Health Officer, Bengaluru South City Corporation, said no such outbreak has been found in the apartment premises. "We have deployed a medical team for the last few weeks and are checking the health of residents. Our samples have also come as negative earlier. The child's death is not due to water contamination. Some people are spreading panic, and there is a provision to take action against such persons," said Dr Balasundar.

A resident from the apartment said that there have been a few cases of diarrhea now and then for the past one month; however, no hospital admission or serious cases have been reported. "Some residents were aspirants to make it into management and run the association. It appears those who did not make it are resorting to spreading of rumours," said the resident, adding that even food samples have been collected on Friday by state surveillance team from the health department.

The South City Commissioner and the police are likely to visit the apartment premises on Saturday to inspect the area. Meanwhile, Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) Assistant Executive Engineer, Darshan, has ruled out any infection from the board's pipeline.

"Every three days, we are checking our lines. No contamination was found in our pipeline network," said Darshan.

BSWML's 'Dclutter' app awaiting launch date

AKNISREE KARTHIK @ Bengaluru

THE much-anticipated app, which allows people to raise complaints related to bad footpaths, roads and dumping of waste and get it cleared by Bengaluru Solid Waste Management Limited (BSWML), is awaiting a launch date. The app has been named as 'Dclutter'.

With the image of Bengaluru taking a beating due to poor garbage management and increasing number of black spots, BSWML has come up with a slew of measures.

In October, BSWML CEO Karee Gowda invited solid waste management experts, activists, bulk waste recyclers and other stakeholders to a meeting, where they discussed measures to be taken to keep the city clean.

One of the major complaints during the meeting was the increasing number of black spots in the city, where not only garbage, but also broken cots, sofas, mattresses and other waste are dumped. Pourakarmikas, meanwhile, clear only garbage and leave the broken furniture there.

Realising this, BSWML decided to come up with an app, allowing people to raise complaints by posting pictures and locations of black spots. As broken cots and furniture can't be transported by regular garbage-lifting vehicles, trucks will be used to clear them. People can also use the app to book BSWML's service to dispose of their broken or unused furniture or bulk waste.

BSWML sources told TNIE that the app is ready for launch. But BSWML is yet to get an appointment from Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar to launch the app. It was supposed to be launched this month. We hope to launch it next month," the sources said.

Bengaluru Central Municipal Corporation Commissioner Rajendra Cholan said the corporation has received a cheque worth Rs 5 crore from Mantri Mall, as part of the mopping-up revenue generation drive within the corporation limits. Colan visited the property tax payment verification site in the Chikkapet revenue division on Friday and confirmed the receipt of the cheque. According to corporation officials, the outstanding amount was paid through a cheque as per the order of the High Court. On the occasion, Additional Commissioner for Development Daljit Kumar, Joint Commissioners Hemanth Sharan, Ranganath, Deputy Commissioner Raju, Revenue Officer Srinivas, Joint Revenue Officers and more than 100 staff of the revenue department were present. SC order: Shelters overwhelmed as RWAs begin relocating strays

GAYATHRI M KURUP @Bengaluru

ANIMAL shelters across the city are reporting a surge in distress calls following the recent Supreme Court order allowing the removal of stray dogs from public places under specific conditions.

Rescuers said that many Resident Welfare Associations (RWAs) have begun relocating community dogs, triggering fear among feeders and a spike in complaints of harassment.

Several dogs have reportedly gone missing, while shelters say they are struggling to handle the sudden increase in rescue and surrender requests.

Lakshmi Swaminathan, founder of Mylos Rescue, said the order has led to widespread panic and misuse. "Shelters are overwhelmed. RWAs are moving dogs without understanding the law, and many feeders are being threatened. We're getting constant calls about missing animals, and we simply don't have the capacity to take in every case," she said. She said only aggressive or suspected rabid dogs can legally be taken for observation.

Dog-rescuer Shraavya Satyanarayan said the situation has intensified hostility toward community animals. "Misconceptions that have existed for years are now being treated as justified," she said. "The real issue is the failure of vaccination and sterilisation systems, not the dogs. Removal is neither ecological nor practical. Strengthening pet ownership rules and improving ABC programmes are the only long-term solutions."

For long-time feeders, the fear is personal and emotional. Vinay Raj Somashekar, who has been caring for around 40 community dogs in his neighbourhood for nearly seven years, described living with constant anxiety. "Nothing has happened here yet, but that fear is always there, that one day a truck will come and take away the dogs I've known since they were pups," he said. "They're vaccinated, sterilised, and part of our daily lives. Losing them would be like losing family."

Animal welfare groups caution that sudden removals destabilise territories and may lead to increased aggression, safety issues, and further conflict. They are urging authorities to issue clear public guidelines, conduct awareness drives, and ensure that RWAs follow legal procedures rather than taking matters into their own hands.

INDIA'S LUNAR LEAP

THE FROZEN MOMENTS OF CHANDRAYAAN-3

ANUBHAB ROY @ Bengaluru

DHEERAJ Khandelwal, a Chennai-based photographer, was one of the lucky few to be at Satish Dhawan Space Centre when ISRO launched Chandrayaan-3 on July 14, 2023.

The breathtaking images of Chandrayaan-3 launch, which he had captured, are on display at Bangalore International Centre (BIC). The exhibition will end on Sunday. Though Khandelwal wanted to become an astronaut, life had other plans for him -- a career in photography. But his passion for astronomy did not veer away. He realised it through this project.

The exhibition aims at inspiring and attracting people, especially children, towards astronomy. "I've had children visit my exhibition in Chennai and ask me questions about the subject; that is incredibly rewarding to me," said Khandelwal.

Chennai-based photographer Dheeraj Khandelwal's exhibition is on at Bangalore International Centre till Sunday | SHASHIDHAR BYRAPPA

The photographs, arranged chronologically, were taken in a short span of about 50 seconds from lift-off to the point where only the thrusters of the Launch Vehicle Mark-3 (LVM3), which carried Chandrayaan-3, could be visible.

"The viewing gallery was set 3 km away, which had a good view. There was an immense release of energy, which shook us and underlined the gravitas of the moment," Khandelwal said.

An avid geek, he has designed the exhibition with photos being backlit, which according to him, symbolises the quiet persistence that ISRO's scientists must have harboured within, only which could have made them go back to the drawing board after Chandrayaan-2's failure, and deliver Chandrayaan-3 when the whole world's focus was on India.

Visitors can see photographs of upward propulsion of the rocket, traversing incredible heights in a few seconds. "The clouds can be seen to reflect light from the rocket propulsion (beneath the rocket) to clouds still beyond the rocket's reach, showing how like the rocket, ISRO's work guided its own path," Khandelwal said.

Youth found dead in rehab; 4 cops booked for murder

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@Bengaluru

FOUR policemen, including the inspector of Viveknagar police station, have been booked for the death of a 22-year-old man, whom they had allegedly detained. The victim was found dead in a private rehabilitation centre under mysterious circumstances in Madanayakanahalli on Wednesday.

The victim, Darshan, is a resident of Sonnenahalli in Koramangala. His mother, Adilakshmi, filed a complaint accusing the Viveknagar police personnel and the Unity Social Service Trust Rehabilitation Centre of custodial violence, illegal detention, and negligence.

The victim, addicted to alcohol, was taken into custody by the Viveknagar police on November 12 following an altercation near his residence. The victim is said to have threatened them by showing a machete. Three days later, the Viveknagar police had reportedly arranged to admit him to the rehab centre located at Adakamaranahalli.

"My son has been tortured and beaten in custody and later admitted to the rehab. He was not doing. Despite repeated requests, the police did not allow me to meet him. I requested them not to send him to jail, as I would be taking him to a de-addiction centre. Due to the nature of the torture, my son was unable to walk. Police forced me to pay Rs 2,500 for his admission to the rehab. The rehab centre kept claiming that Darshan was recovering," Adilakshmi told the media. "On Wednesday, we received a call stating my son had died due to difficulties in breathing. When we rushed to the centre, his body was not there. We were directed to the Nelamangala government hospital, where doctors informed us that Darshan had been brought dead. There were multiple injury marks all over his body, including chest, back, hands and legs," she added.

Naveen, the supervisor of the rehab centre, told the media that the Viveknagar police called them to admit Darshan. "At the time of admission, there were injury marks on him, and we have taken photographs of them. After he complained of breathing difficulties, he was first taken to a nearby private hospital and from there to the government hospital. If we are found at fault, we are ready to undergo the punishment."

"The case was registered on Thursday by the Madanayakanahalli police against the police inspector and three other policemen of Viveknagar station. Even the case is registered against the rehab centre officials. The case has been transferred to the CID for further probe," CK Baba, Bengaluru Rural District SP, told TNIE. An FIR has been registered for murder under the provisions of the SC/ST Act.

Woman, paramour among 3 held for killing hubby

Bengaluru: Madanayakanahalli police have arrested three people, including a woman, in connection with a case where the charred body of a man was found in a deserted area near Gangondanahalli in Nelamangala on Sunday. The deceased's wife, along with her paramour, allegedly killed him as he had become an obstacle to their illicit relationship and burnt the body. The deceased has been identified as Suresh, 30, who married the accused, Sharanamma, 25, four years ago. They lived in a rented house at Byadarahalli and worked as construction labourers. The other accused have been identified as Veerabhadra, 20, a construction supervisor, and his friend Anil. Sharanamma and Veerabhadra, who worked at the same site, were in a relationship. When her husband learnt this, he warned her to stay away from Veerabhadra. Angered by this, Sharanamma and Veerabhadra allegedly planned to kill Suresh. On Sunday, when Suresh was in an inebriated state, Sharanamma called Veerabhadra home. They allegedly assaulted him and smashed his head with a stone. They later strangled him to death. They then called Anil and shifted Suresh's body to Gangondanahalli by a car. They poured petrol and set the body ablaze to destroy evidence. Sharanamma cleaned the bloodstains from her house. ENS

Meter reader took mamool to keep water bill low: Lokayukta

YATHIRAJU @Bengaluru

A Lokayukta police probe has revealed that a Bangalore Water Supply and Sewerage Board (BWSSB) meter reader was taking Rs 2,000 'mamool' every month through UPI payment from the owner of a Kerala-based restaurant and a paying guest owner to reduce the bill. When the owner refused to pay the 'mamool', the meter reader started increasing the water bill, showing the meter reading seamlessly.

The accused is Narasimhappa GV, meter reader in Maruthi Nagar subdivision in the city. According to objections filed by Lokayukta police to the bail application filed by Narasimhappa, he was trapped while receiving a bribe from the complainant, Dels Ditto, who has been running a restaurant and paying guest business in Madiwala.

Narasimhappa initially started demanding Rs 40,000 and received Rs 20,000 from Dels Ditto, and asked him to pay Rs 2,000 per month. In August 2024, Ditto refused to pay the 'mamool', following which he started increasing water bill amount. However, it became inevitable for the complainant to pay the remaining mamool, and accordingly, he paid Rs 2,000 each in April, June, July, August, September 2024 and April 2025 through UPI. In February 2024 and August 2024, Rs 2,000 and Rs 5,000 were paid to his mobile number from the mobile number which belongs to the Ditto's manager.

In November 2025, the accused tendered the water bill of the restaurant to the complainant for Rs 1.43 lakh. But after receiving Rs 10,000 from the complainant, the accused reduced it from Rs 1.43 lakh to Rs 85,000.

On November 17, when the complainant met the accused, he demanded the outstanding mamool of Rs 20,000 over 10 months. Inevitably, the complainant has paid him Rs 5,000 through UPI. Despite this, the accused demanded the balance amount. Unable to pay, the complainant approached Lokayukta police. On November 20, 2025, the accused was trapped and arrested by Lokayukta police after he had obtained Rs 10,000 bribe from the complainant in front of his restaurant.

I AM IN NO HURRY, PARTY WILL DECIDE EVERYTHING: SHIVAKUMAR

Party office in Delhi is temple, it guides us; Congress is my community, says DKS

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

WITH the power tussle in Karnataka intensifying by the day, Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar on Friday said that he was in no hurry and that the Congress high command will take a decision on everything.

Shivakumar made this statement when reporters asked him if he would visit New Delhi to meet Congress' top brass leaders. "The party office is our temple. The Delhi office gives us guidance and direction," Shivakumar, who is also the president of the state Congress, said.

"Party workers may be eager, but I am in no hurry. The party will take all the decisions," Shivakumar added.

Political corridors in the state are abuzz over the Congress high command summoning Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar to put an end to the leadership impasse that has intensified ever since the Congress government completed 2.5 years in office.

"I may be in Delhi... there is a lot of pending work. The winter session of the Parliament begins on December 1, and I need to meet MPs elected from Karnataka. By God's grace, we have gotten justice from the Supreme Court in the Mekedatu balncing reservoir case. I need to discuss this and the other pending irrigation projects of our state with the MPs. I will also discuss with the CM the need to call for an all-party meeting," Shivakumar, who also holds the water resoruces portfolio, said.

On the Vokkaliga community firmly standing behind him in the leadership race, Shivakumar, who also hails from the community, said he does not want to discuss the community angle, as the party is important for him. "Congress is my community. I come from the Vokkaliga community, and they may love me. My commitment is for all the communities, including the backward classes, SC/STs, and minorities. Vokkaligas are also backward classes."

Kurubas warn Cong brass against unseating Siddu

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

AT a time when the Vokkaligas are rallying behind Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar to occupy the top post, the members of the Kuruba community—to which Chief Minister Siddaramaiah belongs—are throwing their weight behind him to continue to lead the state. Shivakumar hails from the Vokkaliga community.

The Kuruba community leaders, under the guidance of Tinthini Mutt head Sri Siddaramanandapuri, held a meeting at the Kuruba Sangha office in Bengaluru on Friday and issued a stern warning to the Congress high command that if Siddaramaiah is removed from the CM's chair, they will vote against the party in the 2028 Karnataka Assembly polls. They blamed the high command for not taking the right political measures that could have prevented the ongoing leadership crisis. "This is not just the Kuruba community's stance, as Siddaramaiah has identified himself as an Ahinda (a Kannada acronym for minorities, backward classes, and Dalits) leader. Therefore, the high command should act in a way that does not cause any harm to the community," the seer said. "It is wrong for a swamiji of any community to take a stand on the CM change issue. We are not supporting Siddaramaiah because he is from the Kuruba community. We are because he is in favour of the poor and the downtrodden," he said.

Siddaramaiah should not be removed from the post of Chief Minister for any reason, he said. "We will campaign against those among the 140 Congress MLAs who are against Siddaramaiah and defeat them," the Kuruba leaders warned.

They also suggested that a Congress Legislature Party (CLP) meeting should be convened to resolve the issue.

Sri Nanjavadutha Swamiji called on Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar at the latter's residence in Bengaluru on Friday | EXPRESS

Vokkaliga seer meets Shivakumar

Kunchitiga Vokkaliga seer Sri Nanjavadhuta met Deputy CM DK Shivakumar and expressed his solidarity with the latter. "His contributions to the Congress cannot be forgotten, and the pain he suffered is beyond description. Shivakumar was given the post of party president at a time of great crisis. He did not lose heart even in such an unfortunate situation," he said. Shivakumar is loyal to both Sonia Gandhi and Rahul Gandhi and brought the party to power in collaboration with Siddaramaiah, he said.

The seer said that not just the Vokkaliga community but other communities too are in favour of Shivakumar becoming the next CM. "Are Vokkaligas not OBCs? DK Shivakumar is also an OBC leader," he justified, urging Siddaramaiah to ensure Shivakumar also gets an opportunity to become the CM.

Hariprasad, Muniyappa say high command will put an end to leadership 'confusion'

INTERESTINGLY, Shivakumar's younger brother and former Bengaluru Rural MP DK Suresh, who reiterated that Siddaramaiah would keep his word over power transfer, also rushed to Delhi later in the day. Shivakumar too had planned to go to Delhi in the evening, but cancelled it.

With this make-or-break situation unfolding on his home turf, the AICC chief – who hails from Kalaburagi – in a recusal of sorts, has put the ball in the Gandhi family's court for a final decision.

Already, the high command leaders, including AICC chief Kharge, Leader of Opposition in the Lok Sabha Rahul Gandhi, and Venugopal have held a round of talks, and are awaiting Sonia Gandhi's arrival from a foreign trip on Friday evening, sources said.

They are likely to have already worked out the modalities and evolved a formula to be placed before Sonia for her assent to placate Siddaramaiah and Shivakumar. "With the party yet to recover from the drubbing in the Bihar assembly polls, it is unlikely there would be drastic changes in Karnataka, the only big state the party is ruling in the country. It is likely to maintain status quo for some more time as polls in five states – Assam, Kerala, West Bengal, Tamil Nadu and Puducherry – are on the cards in 2026," a senior Congress functionary told The New Indian Express.

Shivakumar's camp has pitched for Siddaramaiah – who completed 2.5 years in office – to hand over the CM's post to the former, claiming a power-sharing pact was struck when the party came to power in May 2023. But Siddaramaiah and his camp have argued that there was no such pact.

Meanwhile, permanent invitee to the Congress Working Committee (CWC) and MLC BK Hariprasad held a breakfast meeting with Food and Civil Supplies Minister KH Muniyappa. Speculation is rife whether Hariprasad is looking to take Muniyappa into confidence to make a pitch for Siddaramaiah to continue as CM in the interest of the party, which performed badly in the Bihar polls.

Hariprasad and Muniyappa later told reporters that the party high command would put an end to the "confusion" over change in leadership. Muniyappa's supporters aired slogans in favour of the local leader being elevated to the Chief Minister's post.

In Tumakuru, certain Dalit organisations staged a protest, demanding that the Home Minister Dr G Parameshwara, a Dalit, be made the next CM.

DKS PRAISES SONIA'S SACRIFICE

Deputy Chief Minister and Karnataka Pradesh Congress Committee (KPCC) president DK Shivakumar, speaking at the rally to celebrate the golden jubilee of Anganawadis at Palace Grounds on Friday, heaped praise on senior Congress leader Sonia Gandhi for having sacrificed the PM's post.

In an apparent reference to Chief Minister Siddaramaiah, who was also on the dais, Shivakumar said Sonia had made then Union Finance Minister and eminent economist Dr Manmohan Singh the Prime Minister in 2004. "Even then President APJ Abdul Kalam wished Sonia to become Prime Minister, but she sacrificed power," he added.

CM urges PM to act on maize, green gram price fall in K'taka

VINCENT D'SOUZA @ Mangaluru

KARNATAKA Chief Minister Siddaramaiah has appealed to Prime Minister Narendra Modi to intervene urgently to resolve the "severe crisis" triggered by the steep crash in maize and green gram (moong) prices in the state.

The CM's memorandum was handed over to the PM by Dakshina Kannada district incharge and Health Minister Dinesh Gundu Rao during Modi's arrival in Mangaluru on Friday. Lakhs of farmers are in distress as market prices have plunged far below the Minimum Support Price (MSP), despite a strong harvest. read the memorandum.

Siddaramaiah said that maize has been cultivated on 17.94 lakh hectares and green gram across 4.16 lakh hectares this season, yielding an estimated 54.74 lakh MT of maize and 1.983 lakh MT of green gram. However, the current market prices-Rs 1600-1,800 per MT for maize and Rs 5400 per MT for green gram-are drastically lower than the MSP of Rs 2,400 and Rs 8,768, respectively, the CM said, emphasising that such a steep drop is unprecedented as modal prices over the past three years were consistently above MSP.

The CM expressed particular concern over Karnataka's surplus of 32 lakh MT of maize, far exceeding local industrial demand. Without immediate MSP procurement, he warns, farmers could be forced into distress sales. Siddaramaiah therefore urged the PM to direct NAFED, FCI and NCCF to begin procurement under the Price Support Scheme or another intervention mechanism.

The memorandum also highlighted distortions in the ethanol supply chain. Siddaramaiah said that several ethanol plants are procuring maize from traders instead of farmers or farmer producer organisations, defeating the purpose of MSP and the Centre's incentive of Rs 5.79 per litre for maize-based ethanol. The CM sought mandatory direct procurement from farmers and a review of incentives for units that bypass them.

Another key issue raised is the low ethanol allocation to Karnataka despite its substantial distillery capacity of 272 crore litres across 49 units and abundant maize surplus. Although oil marketing companies have allocated 758.6 crore litres of grain-based ethanol for 2025-26-478 crore litres from maize, Karnataka received only a disproportionately small share. Siddaramaiah argued that surplus-producing states like Karnataka deserve enhanced allocation to ensure stable MSP-level demand for maize. The CM also called for restrictions on maize imports from Myanmar, Ukraine and other countries.

On green gram, Siddaramaiah requests relaxing procurement quality norms to permit up to 10% discolouration, as unseasonal rains caused 6-10% discolouration in parts of the crop. Current norms allow only 4%.

Siddaramaiah concluded by stressing that MSP represents dignity and economic security for farming families. He urged swift action from the Centre to prevent widespread distress and safeguard Karnataka's agricultural backbone.

Puthige seer calls PM Modi 'Bharata Bhagya Vidhata', seeks 'Udupi Corridor'

PRAKASH SAMAGA @ Udupi

CONFERRING the title 'Bharata Bhagya Vidhata' on Prime Minister Narendra Modi in Udupi on Friday, Sri Sugunendra Theertha Swamiji of Paryaya Sri Puthige Mutt urged the former to take steps to develop the temple town as a major pilgrimage centre, similar to the development in Varanasi, by implementing a corridor plan.The seer said that an 'Udupi Corridor' would ensure overall development of the region. Modi, however, in his speech, did not mention any region-specific development project, but said Udupi is special for him for a reason.

"Udupi has been the k*armabhoomi* of the governance model of Jan Sangh and Bharatiya Janata Party," he said.

He recalled that in 1968, the people of Udupi elected Jan Sangh's VS Acharya to the municipal council, and with this Udupi laid the foundation of a new governance model. He noted that the cleanliness campaign—Swacch Bharath— was adopted by Udupi five decades ago. These campaigns have become part of national development and national priority, guiding the country forward,

Prime Minister Narendra Modi takes out a road show in Udupi on Friday. Thousands of people lined the streets from Bannanje Circle to Kalsanka Junction to greet him the PM said.

Modi further said that when so many people recite a sacred text like the Bhagavad Gita, a special energy emerges that gives the mind and intellect a new vibration and a new strength. He stated that today's occasion of one lakh voices reciting the Gita has become an opportunity to experience the strength of collective consciousness. He said that this event has become a meaningful effort to connect the next generation with the Bhagavad Gita.

Modi said teachings of Lord Krishna are practical in every age and added the words of the Gita guide not only individuals but also the policies of the nation. Lord Krishna also gave the mantra of helping the poor, and this very inspiration forms the basis of schemes like Ayushman Bharat and PM-AWAS, Modi said.

Emphasising that through Operation Sindoor, the nation has witnessed this resolve, Modi highlighted that in the terrorist attack at Pahalgam, many countrymen lost their lives, including people from Karnataka. He stated that earlier, when such terrorist attacks occurred, governments would sit idle, but this is a new India that neither bows before anyone nor falters from its duty to protect its citizens. "India knows how to establish peace and also how to safeguard peace" he said.

India's Sudarshan Chakra will destroy enemies: PM

PM Modi said that Lord Krishna delivered the message of the Gita on the battlefield and it teaches us that to establish peace and truth, the end of oppressors is also important. He said that this is the core sentiment of the nation's security policy. He noted that India speaks of V*asudhaiva Kutumbakam an*d also reiterates the m*antra Dharmo Rakshati Rakshitah. H*e said that from the Red Fort, the message of Lord Krishna's compassion is conveyed, and from the same ramparts the announcement of Mission Sudarshan Chakra is also made. Modi said that Mission Sudarshan Chakra means building a protective wall around the country's key locations, and if the enemy dares to breach it, then India's Sudarshan Chakra will destroy them.

'Deep, special connection between Guj and Udupi'

PRIME Minister Narendra Modi reiterated the importance of ensuring housing for the poor, promoting local products to strengthen the 'vocal for local' movement, encouraging natural farming, embracing yoga for a healthy life, conserving ancient manuscripts, and visiting at least 50 significant places in the country to deepen the cultural understanding.

Modi said that coming to the sacred land of Udupi gave him an extraordinary feeling. "Though I was born in Gujarat, there has always been a deep and special connection between Gujarat and Udupi," he said. He recalled the belief that the idol of Lord Shri Krishna established here was earlier worshipped in Dwarka by Mata Rukmini, and later Jagadguru Sri Madhvacharya consecrated this idol in Udupi.

He said that last year, he had the divine experience of visiting Dwarka beneath the sea, and that the darshan of the idol had given him immense spiritual joy.

He said that when Jagadguru Madhvacharya was born, India was facing many internal and external challenges, and at that time, he showed a path of devotion that could connect every section of society and every belief. Due to this guidance, even after centuries the mutts established by him continue to serve millions of people every day.

Inspired by him, many great figures emerged in the Dvaita tradition who always advanced the work of dharma, service and nation building, he added.

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

ANEKAL Tahsildar Neelabai Lamani had an FIR registered against 16 government officials for allegedly creating fake land records in the taluk. It was registered based on directions from Bengaluru Urban Deputy Commissioner (DC) and Magistrate G Jagadeesha.

District administration officials said that some staffers of the Record Rooms Office (RRO) in Anekal taluk had collaborated with land sharks and helped them encroach government land by creating fake records.

"Sixteen government employees, including Deputy Tahsildar BK Chandrashekhar, First Division Assistants Mahesh and Mangala, shirestadars Dinakaran G, Maruti Prasad, Lokesh S, Second Divison Assistants K Raghavendra and Manjunath MV, D-Group employees Kalpana P, Manjunath, Shobha N, Praveen, Muniraju, Manjulamma and Meenakshi are reportedly involved in fabrication of government records," DC Jagadeesh said.

He said original files of government lands in the area, application books, cultivation certificates, distribution books, sanction transaction books, Inam DC order files, and land reforms original files were all fabricated by the officials, in collusion with land sharks.

"The Anekal tahsildar had reported that while scanning records under the Bhusuraksha Yojana, fake records were found in RR registers, pahanis, handwritten pahanis and other documents, which were used to help land thieves grab government land. Police cases were registered against 16 government employees who have worked in the archives department in the past five years," the DC said.

The tahsildar was instructed to investigate the role of private individuals in creating these fake records and also file a criminal case against organized groups that create fake records.

The DC said all special tahsildars of the district have already been instructed to take the DC's permission at the time of drawing up accounts, and any orders related to the Revenue department regarding government land. Raid: ₹100-cr suppressed turnover found across B'luru

@ Bengaluru

THE Enforcement Wing (South Zone) of the Commercial Taxes Department has detected nearly Rs 100 crore in suppressed turnover during its raids across Bengaluru's Central Business District (CBD) for over 10 days.

The raids also led to detention of more than 75 goods vehicles and collection of Rs 2.5 crore in penalties for various GST violations.

According to a press release from the office of Kanisha, Additional Commissioner of Commercial Taxes (Enforcement), South Zone, Bengaluru, the wing targeted evasion-prone sectors such as electronics, automobile spares, dryfruits, gift articles, hardware, iron and steel, paints, and cement in commercial hubs, including Chickpet, SP Road, Avenue Road, JC Road and BVK Iyengar Road.

Many traders were found procuring goods from inter-state suppliers, mainly from the NCR/Delhi region, without valid tax invoices and transporting quantities in excess of the declared amounts, enabling large-scale GST evasion.

In the iron and steel and cement sectors, officials of the wing found dealers issuing invoices without supplying goods. Materials were allegedly diverted to end consumers building single-dwelling houses, while registered entities used fictitious invoices to wrongfully claim Input Tax Credit (ITC).

The officials also identified several businesses operating without mandatory GST registration despite crossing the Rs 40-lakh turnover threshold. Nearly 1,000 bags of gutkha and pan masala at Yeshwanthpur Railway Station were found being transported without documentation.

Detailed investigations, document verification and legal proceedings under the CGST/KGST Acts will be initiated against errant dealers, the release said.

Minister seeks ₹1k hike for Anganwadi workers

Announces launch of Akka Pade for protection of women in public places

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Bengaluru

CHIEF Minister Siddaramaiah said the Integrated Child Development Services Scheme (ICDS) is a visionary project by former Prime Minister Indira Gandhi to eliminate maternal and infant mortality, and malnutrition. The programme benefits over 40 lakh women and children through 69,922 Anganwadi centres.

Addressing the audience on the golden jubilee celebrations of the ICDS programme, he added, "Though ICDS is a central government programme, the Centre provides only Rs 2,700, and the state government spends Rs 8,500 as honorarium to pay Asha workers. We are giving the highest honorarium to Asha workers in the country. In fact, Karnataka is the first state to celebrate the golden jubilee of the ICDS programme. The first anganwadi was established in T Narasipura by Indira Gandhi 50 years ago."

50 YEARS OF ICDS

Criticising the BJP government and Prime Minister Narendra Modi, he said, "Those who opposed the guarantee schemes should wake up and see how it has helped women in the state. The BJP and PM had opposed it. We are implementing the guarantee schemes and also spending on development works. After implementation of the Shakti and Gruhalakshmi schemes, Karnataka ranks first in the country in per capita income. It ranks first among states that have effectively implemented the ICDS programme. After the Shakti scheme was implemented, the share of women going to work, which was 23 per cent, increased by 21 per cent in rural areas. Under the Gruhalakshmi scheme, Rs 2,000 has been provided to 1.26 crore women. So far, the government has spent over Rs 1,04,000 crore on the guarantee schemes."

Meanwhile, Minister for Women and Child Development, Disabled and Senior Citizens Empowerment Laxmi R Hebbalkar announced the launch of Akka Pade across 31 districts for the protection of women in public places, LKG and UKG classes in 5,000 anganwadis and Gruhalakshmi Multipurpose Cooperative Society, which has been started for the self-reliance of women.

Hebbalkar requested the CM to increase the honorarium for Anganwadi workers by Rs 1,000. She said, "During the previous Congress government, we had increased the honorarium amount for anganwadi workers. Last year, our government again increased it by Rs 1,000. Now, I will appeal to CM Siddaramaiah and Deputy CM DK Shivakumar to increase it by Rs 1,000. It will be of great help to them as they take up all responsibilities and tasks."

The department felicitated senior citizens and best Anganwadi workers, and gave bravery awards to two children.

Reopening safaris against SC order: Legal notice

KARTHIK K K @Mysuru

AMID growing pressure to reopen wildlife safaris in the Nagarahole and Bandipur Tiger Reserve, a Mysuru-based advocate and member of the Save Kabini Team has issued a stern legal notice to the state government, warning that any move to resume safari operations inside the Core or Critical Tiger Habitats (CTH) will attract criminal contempt proceedings before the Supreme Court of India.

Advocate V Ravi Kumar has sent the notice to the chief secretary, principal chief conservator of forests (PCCF), and other senior officials, stating that reopening safaris in prohibited zones would amount to wilful disobedience of apex court directives.

A copy of the notice accessed by TNIE reveals that the state government is reportedly facing pressure from resort owners, private tourism entities and political representatives from Mysuru and HD Kote to revive safari operations that were halted recently following a series of tiger attacks and increasing human-animal conflict in the region.

Safari operations in parts of the two tiger reserves were suspended recently following multiple tiger attacks and rising human-animal conflict. Resort workers, safari drivers and local political representatives from Mysuru have been pressuring the government to reopen the safaris to protect livelihoods.

The legal notice sent by the advocate on Friday quotes the Supreme Court orders dated March 6, 2024 and November 14, 2025, which has issued binding instructions that absolutely prohibit Tiger Safari inside all Core and Critical Tiger Habitats. The apex court has permitted safari activities only in buffer regions and that too strictly under NTCA guidelines.

The notice stated that core habitats are inviolate and any activity that disturbs tiger breeding areas, prey base or ecological integrity is unlawful. It further states that the state government and forest department are constitutionally obligated under Articles 141, 144 and 21 to ensure full compliance with the Supreme Court's directions, failing which officials will be liable for criminal contempt.

Ravi Kumar told that several resort owners around Kabini, Antharasanthe, N Begur and HD Kote, along with certain influential political individuals and tourism bodies, have been lobbying aggressively for the restart of safari operations inside ecologically sensitive zones.

The tigress was trapped in a maize field at Hanagodu Forest Range on Friday

10-YEAR-OLD TIGRESS CAPTURED IN HUNSUR TALUK; SEARCH ON FOR FOUR CUBS

Mysuru: A 10-year-old tigress that had been frequently sighted in several villages under the Hanagodu Forest Range of the Hunsur division was captured in the wee hours of Friday. Residents of Waranchi, Hale Waranchi, Hosa Waranchi, Kalehalli and Gowdanakatte in Hunsur taluk had repeatedly reported tiger sightings, prompting forest officials to conduct an immediate inspection of the affected areas. Based on these reports, officials launched an operation to capture the tiger. With the support of the Elephant Task Force and Leopard Task Force units, forest personnel carried out the operation on Thursday midnight and the team successfully trapped an adult tigress in a maize field located in survey no 25 of Gowdanakatte village. Veterinary officials who examined the captured animal confirmed that it was a female tiger, approximately 10 years old. For its safety and health, they recommended immediate relocation to a rehabilitation centre and was shifted to Koorgalli Rehabilitation Centre. Subsequently, officials received information that four tiger cubs were present in the same area. Forest teams have now intensified operations to locate and safely capture the cubs. ENS

Fresh case against jailed gangster over threat calls

Belagavi: Following directions from the National Investigation Agency (NIA), the Hindalga prison authorities have filed a case against undertrial gangster Jayesh Pujari on charges of making threatening phone calls to some people, whose identity has not been disclosed by the police authorities. CM discusses resource mobilisation panel's report

Bengaluru: Chief Minister Siddaramaiah on Friday held an in-depth meeting with members of the high-level Resource Mobilisation Committee, led by former union secretary Dr K P Krishnan, to discuss the recommendations of the panel's report. RAPE CHARGES

Lookout notice issued for Rahul Mamkootathil

ENS @T'puram

TIGHTENING the noose around Rahul Mamkootathil, the police slapped a non-bailable charges, including rape and forceful termination of pregnancy, against him early Friday, even as the Congress MLA remained untraceable. The police have issued a lookout notice against Rahul.

Meanwhile, the survivor recorded her secret statement before the Judicial First Class Magistrate, Neyyattinkara. As the writing in the wall became clear, Rahul moved an anticipatory bail petition before the Additional District and Sessions Court in Thiruvananthapuram, which is likely to consider the plea on Monday. According to the FIR, the legislator raped the woman multiples times, both in Thiruvananthapuram, as well as in Palakkad. Rahul also forced the woman to take pills to abort her pregnancy against her will, the FIR said.

Joby Joseph, a friend of Rahul, has been arraigned as the second accused for allegedly handing out the pills to the survivor to terminate pregnancy.

Rahul in his anticipatory bail plea has rejected the charges in the complaint. The plea said the allegations were frivolous, politically-motivated and a handiwork of the CPM-BJP nexus. According to the bail plea, he had a consensual physical relationship with the woman, who had contacted him first via social media. He also alleged that the husband of the woman is a BJP member and the firm the woman worked for was also politically aligned to BJP, which prove that the allegation was politically-motivated. He also portrayed the allegations as a smokescreen to deflect attention from Sabarimala gold missing case.

Waves crash against a seawall as Cyclone Ditwah nears Tamil Nadu coast in Ramanathapuram, on Friday| EXPRESS

Ditwah may batter TN, red alert for 4 districts

IMD forecasts heavy rain, fishers advised not to venture into sea

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Chennai

CYCLONIC storm Ditwah, which has intensified over the south-west Bay of Bengal and moved closer to the Sri Lankan coast on Friday, is heading towards the North Tamil Nadu–Puducherry–South Andhra Pradesh stretch. The system is expected to influence weather over coastal districts from Friday night, bringing bouts of intense rainfall and strong winds.

According to the Regional Meteorological Centre (RMC), Chennai, the cyclone lay around 40 km south-west of Trincomalee and 320 km south-south-east of Karaikal on Friday. After traversing coastal Sri Lanka, it is likely to continue moving north-northwestwards over the sea, keeping Tamil Nadu directly under its rainbands for the next 48 to 72 hours. The weather office has issued a red alert for Cuddalore, Mayiladuthurai, Villupuram, Chengalpattu and Puducherry for Saturday, warning of isolated extremely heavy rainfall. Chennai, Tiruvallur, Kancheepuram, Ranipet, Tiruvannamalai, Salem and the delta districts remain under orange alert.

On Sunday, as Ditwah nears the North Tamil Nadu coast, Tiruvallur and Ranipet are likely to receive extremely heavy rain, while Chennai, Chengalpattu, Kancheepuram, Vellore, Tirupattur, Krishnagiri and Dharmapuri may see widespread heavy to very heavy rainfall. Light to moderate rain is expected to continue over several parts of the state beyond December 1 as the system weakens and moves away.

The IMD has issued a high-wind warning for coastal Tamil Nadu. Winds reaching 70–80 kmph, gusting to 90 kmph, are expected over the delta and adjoining coastal districts, Puducherry and Karaikal on Saturday. "Stay indoors, avoid coastal areas. Follow official advisories and avoid spreading rumours. Fishermen are advised not to venture into the sea. Stay alert, stay safe, as your caution can save lives," the IMD said.

Uphold social justice, end 'santanaisation' of HC: VCK

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE

VCK president Thol Thirumavalavan on Friday contended that not a single person belonging to the Scheduled Castes has been included in the list of persons currently under consideration by the Madras High Court Collegium for the appointment as judges to its bench. Alleging that only those advocates with inclination to BJP and RSS are continuously finding place in the appointments, he said this indicated that the judiciary was becoming 'sanatanised'.

"Our party strongly condemns this," he said.

He said it was a massive injustice that not a single person belonging to the Scheduled Castes is included in the list currently under consideration. "Currently, among the judges in the Madras High Court, those belonging to the Brahmin community are in the majority. Even among them, specifically, only BJP supporters are continuously being appointed as judges," he alleged.

He further said it has come to light that among those currently under the consideration of the Madras High Court's Collegium, seven are lawyers of the union government, advocates representing central agencies like the Enforcement Directorate and Income-Tax Department, and those closely associated with BJP and RSS.

He insisted that persons belonging to the Scheduled Castes and from the Most Backward Communities, who have not found representation in the judiciary till now, be included in the upcoming appointments. "We request the Collegium to abandon the practice of continuously making judicial appointments against social justice," he said.

NISAR's S-Band radar reveals Godavari Delta in striking detail

BOSKY KHANNA @Bengaluru

THE Indian Space Research Organisation (ISRO) on Friday shared details of the images captured from the S-Band radar of the NASA-ISRO Synthetic Aperture Radar (NISAR) satellite.

"The first image of S-band Synthetic Aperture Radar (SAR) acquired on August 19 captures the fertile Godavari river delta in Andhra Pradesh. Mangroves, agriculture, arecanut plantations, acquaculture fields, etc are clearly seen in the image. The image highlights NISAR's S-Band SAR ability to map river deltas and agricultural landscapes with precision," the ISRO team said.

The NISAR satellite, a joint effort of NASA and ISRO, was launched on July 30 from Satish Dhawan Space Centre.

The ISRO team added that since the first acquisition on August 19, the S-Band SAR is regularly imaging over Indian landmass and Global Calibration-Validation sites in various payload operating configurations.

"Reference targets such as corner reflectors were deployed around Ahmedabad and a few more locations in India for calibration of the images. Data acquired over Amazon rainforests were also used for calibration of spacecraft pointing and images. Based on this, payload data acquisition parameters were fine-tuned resulting in high quality images. Initial analysis by scientists and engineers revealed the potential of S-Band SAR data for various targeted science and application areas like agriculture, forestry, geo-sciences, hydrology, Polar regions, Himalayan ice, snow and oceanic studies," the ISRO team said.

The researchers added that on the the 100th day of NISAR in-orbit, ISRO will release the S-SAR images to the public.

Kavalu Samitis to come up in urban areas to protect women, child

DIVYA CUTINHO @ Mangaluru

NOW, Kavalu Samitis (Vigilance Committee for Women and Child Protection) or the Women and Child Protection Committees will also come up in urban areas to address issues like child marriage, child labour, school dropouts, and violence against children and women.

These Kavalu Samitis are already established at every gram panchayat level. However, there was a demand for similar committees having members of local bodies, NGOs and civic society in all urban local bodies. Considering their demand, the state government issued a circular on November 26, directing all the urban local bodies to constitute the Kavalu Samitis to prevent child and women trafficking, child marriages and protection of child rights.

As per the circular issued, the head or president of the urban local body, be it the city corporation, town municipality, or town panchayats, will be the president of the committee and women urban local body members as vice-president. Two members of the urban local body, a Block Education Officers (BEO), a Taluk Health Officer (THO), a sub-inspector of that particular urban local body limits, two women members of an NGO, a male and a female high school student, a labour officer, a social welfare officer, an official each from the backward class welfare, minority departments, ward level officials will be the members of the committee.

Usman A, Deputy Director of the Women and Child Development Department, said that these Kavalu Samitis must hold a meeting every three months, and they are instructed to provide details of all the children at the urban local body level. "These committees must ensure they organise awareness campaigns in coordination with the schools, police stations, anganwadis, women self-help groups and youth organisations. The Kavalu Samiti's role is to track cases of women and child trafficking and provide protection to the victims and extend financial, moral, social, medical and educational support to their kin. These committees must ensure there is maximum participation of the civic society members," he said. Reni Peter D'souza, CEO, PADI, said it has been a long-pending demand to have Kavalu Samitis in the urban areas where incidents of child and women rights violations are comparatively high.

"We do not have an effective system or a particular committee to tackle issues related to the violation of the rights of women and children at the urban local body level at present. Now, we can work in coordination with local bodies, NGOs and civic society members and also have a database of migrant women and children, missing women and children, children who have dropped out, etc. We can also tackle child beggary through these committees at the urban level," he said, adding that through PADI, they are meeting the officials of all the urban local bodies to form the committees at the earliest.

6 CASTE HINDUS GET JAIL FOR ABUSING DALIT SCHOOL COOK

P SRINIVASAN @ Tiruppur

A Dalit school meal cook — who faced discrimination at the hands of upper caste parents, transferred at least five times, and struggled to perform her duty for 19 years — has finally tasted justice as a court has handed out jail terms to her abusers.

The special court for trial of cases under the SC/ST (PoA) Act in Tiruppur on Friday sentenced six persons, including a woman, to two years of imprisonment for caste discrimination and other offences. The convicted persons were identified as P Palanisamy Gounder (74), N Sakthivel (55), R Shanmugam (53), C Vellingiri (64), A Duraisamy (70), and V Seetha Lakshmi (49).

The victim, P Pappal, told TNIE on Friday that she has been facing caste abuse ever since her appointment as a government cook in 2006. Sources said Pappal (49) — a resident of Thirumalai Goundampalayam— started working as a noon meal cook at Kandayampalayam primary school in 2006, but was transferred to Kulle Goundan Pudur primary school within 15 days after facing opposition from the parents of dominant communities who claimed that their children would not eat the food cooked by an untouchable.

As she faced similar harassment at Kulle Goundan Pudur, she was moved to Vaiyaburi Goundan Pudur school and later to a government primary school at Ochampalayam, where she worked for 12 years. On July 1, 2018 she was transferred to the Thirumalai Goundampalayam primary school to an existing vacancy, but after protests erupted again, she was moved to a government high school in the locality after 15 days. She was hounded there too and on July 18, caste Hindu parents locked the school gate and staged a protest seeking her transfer.

The incident triggered protests by anti-untouchability organisations the following day, and her transfer was cancelled.

Nirmala lays foundation stone for 15 PSBs and insurance companies

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE
@ Vijayawada

UNION Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman on Friday termed the foundation stone laying for head offices of 15 banking and insurance institutions in Amaravati a "red-letter day," stating that the initiative could serve as an ideal model for future capital cities in the country.

Speaking at the foundation stone laying ceremony, she said restarting the construction of Andhra Pradesh's capital was a moment of great satisfaction. She observed that the construction of a new capital city is never a routine exercise, and requires sustained commitment, vision and financial assurance. "Prime Minister Narendra Modi is personally supporting the resumption of Amaravati's construction works," she said.

Describing Amaravati's development as a collective endeavour, she likened it to a yagna, involving sacrifice and contribution from all stakeholders. The decision to locate the headquarters of 15 public sector banks and insurance companies in Amaravati is aimed at creating a robust financial ecosystem for the capital. Establishment of major PSU headquarters together in the proposed Financial District will enhance coordination and institutional strength, she said.

AP CM Chandrababu Naidu greets Union Finance Minister Nirmala Sitharaman in Amaravati on Friday | EXPRESS

Focusing on agriculture, Sitharaman emphasised that the sacrifices made by farmers who contributed land for the capital should never be forgotten. Calling upon banks to ensure that such farmers do not face any hardship, she urged them to extend financial assistance beyond Kisan Credit Card loans, covering agriculture, horticulture and allied sectors.

Referring to the Purvodayam Scheme, she appreciated the Andhra Pradesh government's plans for the development of Rayalaseema and Prakasam districts. The Centre would extend support for the proposed development plans in nine districts under the scheme, for which the State had drawn up projects worth nearly Rs 39,000 crore, including roads, irrigation and horticulture-related infrastructure, she said.

Citing examples of horticultural produce such as bananas from Maharashtra and coconuts from Tamil Nadu being transported by trains to major markets like Mumbai and Delhi, she said similar system should be promoted for Rayalaseema districts. Banks must support investments in food processing, packaging, cold storage and cold-chain industries to ensure better income for farmers, she said.

GDP GROWTH MORE BROAD-BASED, BUT DARK CLOUDS FILL SILVER LINING

BETWEEN July and September this year, India's GDP expanded at the sharpest clip in seven quarters. The latest quarterly growth of 8.2 percent beat RBI's estimate of 7 percent and surpassed consensus projections that had tempered expectations citing American tariffs. The performance reaffirmed India's strong underlying economic momentum amid global uncertainties. Though India is the only major economy yet to strike a trade deal with the US, it retained the tag of being the fastest-growing major economy notwithstanding the steep levies, which have compelled foreign investors to pull out a record $16 billion from Indian equities so far in 2025. The most comforting data point from Friday's numbers is that with consumption, investments, and manufacturing witnessing a revival, India's growth engines are now more broad-based. Until now, one component or another was pulling in less than the desired output; but the second quarter saw a much-needed departure.

The 9.1 percent uptick in manufacturing, followed by financial and professional services at 10.2 percent, and construction at 7.4 percent were the key growth drivers. However, government spending contracted, while rural demand retained its level. Higher agricultural output, steady farm incomes, and improving rural labour conditions further strengthened private consumption to 7.9 percent. Higher consumption is a sign of healthy aggregate demand and reinforces confidence that India is firmly on a high-growth trajectory. While private consumption is likely to turn in a good performance in the third quarter too, there is uncertainty regarding investment, which rose 7.3 percent in Q2. Rising consumption should lead to more investment, but the global headwinds may hold back its growth.

That's why the growth projections for the next two quarters are pegged below 7 percent each. However, if consumption and investment hold on to the rates seen in Q2, GDP growth for the full fiscal will see a notable upside. That's not enough to power India's ambitious target of being a $5-trillion economy by 2027-28. As the IMF noted, it will take longer due to slower nominal GDP growth and sharper rupee depreciation. The currency has fallen 4.26 percent against the US dollar so far this year, while lower inflation has slowed nominal GDP growth. However, the economy will likely cross the $4-trillion mark this year and overtake Japan as the fourth-largest economy.

HC STAMP FOR RIGHT TO EMERGENCY CARE

THE Kerala High Court's order stating that hospitals cannot deny initial life-saving care for non-payment of advance or lack of documents is a landmark. It underscores the fact that the right to life overrides all other considerations and settles the formalities-versus-treatment tussle that often hampers the timely delivery of healthcare. This is significant in a country where emergency medical care, despite the legal framework, suffers on accessibility, quality, and cost. Insistence on paperwork and advance payment defeats the purpose of emergency life-saving treatment.

The direction was delivered on an appeal by private hospitals and the Indian Medical Association against certain provisions of the Kerala Clinical Establishments Act, 2018, which requires hospitals to display the list of services offered and the baseline rates for common procedures. The court ordered clinical establishments to screen and stabilise patients in need of emergency attention and ensure their safe transfer for further care, if needed, with proper documentation. Hospitals must ensure that, along with the discharge summary, all investigation reports are handed over to the patient. Upholding the validity of the Act, the court held the provisions are neither vague nor disproportionate, and conform to global standards.

The judgement reaffirms people's right to dignified, ethical, and equitable care and is in line with the Supreme Court's ruling that the right to medical care is an integral part of the fundamental right to life under Article 21 of the Constitution. What that means is that a government has a constitutional obligation to provide health facilities and protect citizens' right to health. The Kerala government was only fulfilling its responsibility while legislating to ensure transparency and fairness in the care provided by private medical institutions. The legislation is founded on the necessity of ensuring public health, ethical standards, and quality of care. As the state argued in the court, balancing the autonomy of hospitals with necessary regulations is essential for an effective healthcare system that prioritises the well-being of patients and the integrity of medical practice. Now that the law has been upheld, the government must make the private institutions fall in line. There should be no compromise on timely care, sharing of records, or quality of service. The right to life is universal and must be upheld at all times.

QUICK TAKE

AVOIDING AN INFERNO

THERE'S something about towering infernos that sends a chill down the spine of everyone, even those distant. This week, the horror of at least 128 people burnt alive in Wang Fuk Court, eight 32-storey towers in Hong Kong that caught fire on Wednesday, hit the headlines around the world. Some city officials suspect the bamboo scaffolding, boards, and green mesh the towers were wrapped in for renovation—which are often seen around Indian high-rises, too—were responsible for the fire's quick spread. If the tragedy has touched a raw nerve, it's time for Indians to demand well-maintained fire-fighting equipment at their own apartment blocks. The other side of it is to organise regular drills, without which residents would not even know what to do when tragedy strikes.

Trump's support has encouraged Pakistan's military to stir up trouble along the Durand Line and further weaken its civil institutions. The fallout may reverberate in other parts of the subcontinent

EMBOLDENED PAK BODES ILL FOR REGIONAL PEACE

SOURAV ROY

THE Durand Line has again become a flashpoint and the rumbles have grown louder over the last two months. First, Pakistan carried out a strike on Kabul in October, which it claimed targeted the head of the Tehreek-e-Taliban Pakistan (TTP). Later that month, skirmishes ensued between the Afghan Taliban forces and the Pakistani military along the 2,640-km border, with casualties claimed on both sides. Qatar and Türkiye weighed in to organise peace talks, but three rounds of parleys ended in a deadlock, though an unwritten ceasefire was agreed upon.

Earlier this month, the fragile truce was shattered when a suicide bomber killed 12 people in Islamabad. A day earlier, an explosive-laden vehicle had rammed into the gate of a military school in South Waziristan. The conflict ratcheted up this Monday, when three suicide bombers targeted the headquarters of a Pakistani paramilitary force in Peshawar, killing six. On Tuesday, a Pakistani air-strike across the Durand Line killed nine children and a woman.

The primary bone of contention between the neighbours is the TTP, apart from Pakistan forcing Afghan refugees to return and blocking Afghan trade routes. Pakistan has accused Kabul of giving safe haven to the TTP, which has claimed most attacks on Pakistan's forces and civilians in recent years. The outfit, which emerged in 2007 after a merger of various Pashtun factions to assist the Afghan Taliban against the American and Nato occupying forces, has been designated a 'terrorist' organisation by the US and the UN working in tandem.

Kabul, which has denied harbouring the TTP, has countered that Islamabad is supporting the Islamic State Khorasan (ISIS-K) and drone flights over Afghan airspace. Pakistan obfuscated the reply because it has agreements in place to allow American drones flying from its bases for surveillance over Iran.

The enmity, however, goes far back from the present—to the disputed Durand Line, named after Henry Mortimer Durand, foreign secretary of colonial India who in 1893 imposed the border to separate Afghanistan from colonial India. The same agreement included Baluchistan in British India.

The line runs through the heartland of the Pashtuns, splitting Afghanistan's largest ethnic group. An angry Afghanistan voted against the recognition of Pakistan as an independent country at the UN in 1948 and refused to recognise the Durand line. The divisive imprint left by the British has not been accepted by Kabul's rulers till date.

In recent weeks, Pakistan has accused India of using Afghanistan as a proxy and blamed India for the failure of the peace talks. India has rejected Pakistan's allegations and suggested that the two sides sort out their problems peacefully.

The cross-border clashes and bomb blasts in the capitals followed Afghan foreign minister Amir Khan Muttaqi's first visit to Delhi, and India's decision to upgrade its embassy in Kabul and provide further humanitarian aid. So far, only Russia has officially recognised the Islamic Emirate of Afghanistan. India may follow suit.

Pakistan's hackneyed playbook of blaming India ignores its historical mistrust with Afghanistan. Pakistan's confident expectation that under Taliban 2.0, Afghanistan would kowtow to its wishes and support its strategy of using the country for 'strategic depth' has been rudely shattered. The closure of trade routes has created economic problems for both. Landlocked Afghanistan has claimed a loss of around $200 million a month owing to the shutdown.

President Donald Trump now has another conflict that he wants to resolve "very quickly", as he stated at the recent ASEAN summit in Kuala Lumpur. But ever since Trump expressed his desire to reclaim the Bagram air base in Afghanistan, speculation has heightened about America's intentions. Bagram can allow the US regular surveillance over Iran and Central Asia. Also notable is the US military's recent joint exercises with the Bangladesh military in Chattogram, close to Myanmar's border and its use of a 'humanitarian' corridor to provide 'aid' to the Arakan Army and Rohingyas.

Bolstering these American moves are the Saudi-Pakistani military pact, which is reported to include a nuclear umbrella with Iran in mind. The renewed American support for Pakistan under the Trump administration and the clashes along the Durand Line may be factors in upping the pressure on Afghanistan.

Pakistan, which has a long history of acting as a rentier state and a proxy for the US, has been emboldened by the unexpected warm embrace by the Trump administration. Its boldness showed in the recent bomb blast in Delhi, which has links to Jaish-e-Mohammed, the state-sponsored terrorist organisation that operates publicly in Pakistan.

Other events also point to a changing climate within Pakistan. Constitutional amendments have given unprecedented powers to Field Marshal Asim Munir and curtailed the powers of the Supreme Court. Munir has been elevated to the new position of chief of defence forces, formally putting him in charge of the navy and the air force as well. He will continue to hold his rank of field marshal, have immunity from prosecution for life, and serve for an extended term of 5 years. No Pakistani general has ever had such unprecedented 'goodies' showered on him. The moot question is how far this will embolden Munir. North Korean and Chinese leaders may wonder if they now have a competitor for the title of 'supreme leader'.

In effect, Pakistan's hybrid civil-military political structure has moved to further empower the army, leaving its parliament and judiciary even more emasculated. Its democracy is reduced to a farce, with only some MPs of Imran Khan's party speaking up. Two Supreme Court judges and a high court judge mustered enough courage to resign.

History throws up evidence that Afghanistan has always resisted foreign domination—be it the British, the Soviets, or the Americans at the head of a Nato force. A two-front 'war' cannot be a welcome prospect for Pakistan. Its military should think many times before provoking India again. Its two-front dilemma may push it further towards using terrorism as a preferred geopolitical tool; but then it will have to factor in retribution like Operation Sindoor and blowback from Afghanistan. After all, those who want to be dictators for life tend not to have a long shelf life.

DRAWING MAPS IN THE MIND

SPEAKEASY

PRATIK KANJILAL

Senior Fellow, Henry J Leir Institute of Migration and Human Security, Fletcher School, Tufts University

EVER since independence, India has been concerned about the depiction of its northern borders, as Pakistan and China laid claim to territory. After the 1962 war with China, India began to stamp inaccuracy notices on maps in imported books and atlases that deviated from its official map. In 1976, customs inspectors were empowered to prohibit literature with maps that did not cleave to the line. In January 1995, an edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica was banned for presenting a map that showed Pakistan Occupied Kashmir as part of Pakistan.

Arunachal Pradesh, too, is an old issue. Editorialists, including me, had fun at the expense of the government as it slogged on grimly like a resident's welfare association uncle trying to maintain order.

Maps can depict the world both as it is and as it should be. The merits and demerits of these competing perceptions were hotly debated in important forums like the bar of the India International Centre in Delhi. Some uncle could be counted upon to pipe up: "But what about Aksai Chin?" This stock character was lampooned by those who wanted to leave map mania behind.

But in hindsight, there was nothing funny about it, because China is now relying on idealised maps to legitimise expansionist aims in South Asia. When Zhou Enlai visited Delhi in April 1960, he proposed a compromise to settle territorial disputes between China and India over Aksai Chin and the North-East Frontier Agency (NEFA). Jawaharlal Nehru rejected the offer, insisting that both regions were part of India. Border skirmishes continued, followed by the Indo-China war.

A decade later, most of NEFA became Arunachal Pradesh. And this week, Indian citizen Pema Wang Thongdok was held for 18 hours in Shanghai's international airport while transiting from the UK to Japan because her passport identified her place of birth as Arunachal Pradesh, India—which is Zangnan or Southern Tibet on Chinese maps. They told her to go apply for a Chinese passport.

This rerun of an old story got global attention perhaps because the Indian woman in question is resident in the UK. From the 2000s, China has caused diplomatic uproars by stapling plain paper visas to the passports of visitors from Arunachal Pradesh, including athletes and officials. It even denied visas, arguing that it was absurd for Chinese residents to need a visa to visit China. Arunachali athletes headed for the 2023 Asian Games could not travel.

China has stolen a march on India, which obsessively renames domestic locations to appropriate them politically, by renaming 27 locations in Arunachal, including mountains and a lake, to appropriate them geographically.

AFP

> Maps can depict the world both as it is and as desired. China is using its own idealised map of Arunachal Pradesh to legitimise expansionism, not unlike European explorers who claimed territories across the world in this manner. China's ploy involves its Three Warfares doctrine

This summer, India dismissed China's renaming project as "vain and preposterous", but it's actually in deadly earnest. Alternative maps can become the persuasive basis for alternative realities. European explorers claimed territories in the Americas, Africa, and Asia in the name of their monarchs, which were essentially signed fictions. Speedily, these fictions became true as the map of the modern world.

The same stratagem is at work here. The alternative map of Arunachal Pradesh and alternative Chinese citizenship for its residents are psychological cues intended to acclimatise Indians to China's preferred realities. It is part of the Three Warfares doctrine, apparently based on Sun Tzu's ideas, which uses media, psychological, and legal warfare or 'lawfare' to achieve strategic goals without direct military conflict.

Lawfare provides the scaffolding of the strategy by laying legal claim to territory. Psychological warfare builds upon it with the visa game, infrastructure, and real estate developments on both sides of the Line of Actual Control, the People's Liberation Army's incursions, and encounters with Indian civilians.

The doctrine has informed PLA's work since it was formally adopted in 2003. In 2020, China constructed a village in Arunachal's Upper Subansiri district. Other new settlements abut the border and are connected to mainland China by expressways. The most colourful incursions left visible traces—rocks were spray-painted '2024' in red during the September 2024 Kapapu incident in Arunachal. Graffiti, food, drinks, and tobacco in Chinese packaging have been deliberately left behind for the delectation of villagers since 2011.

In 2017, China extended a border road in Doklam, at the trijunction of India, China, and Bhutan, leading to a military standoff. If it were finished, the road would have put the PLA within striking range of India's weakest point—the Chicken's Neck, the narrow stretch in West Bengal connecting the Northeast with the rest of India.

In comparison, passport crises involving Arunachali Indians seem relatively tame. In June 2014, Chinese Foreign Minister Wang Yi said with a straight face that stapled visas were a "friendly gesture" to allow Arunachal residents to travel freely.

And at the other end of the Himalayas, the other old question remains unanswered: "What about Aksai Chin?" China built a strategic highway through the region in the 1950s, connecting Xinjiang with Tibet. India discovered it only after its completion in 1957. The brief 1962 war confirmed China's hold on Aksai Chin. So, should our school geography books lop off that bit of India, which looks like the nose of a laughing Kashmir? Of course not, because if we abandon our maps, the last laugh would be at our expense.

SIR planning

Ref: When a clean-up becomes a mess (Nov 28). The voter roll revision, though fraught with bitter lessons, reflects its intent to uphold electoral integrity. Mistakes are inevitable in large-scale exercises, but dismissing the effort undermines reform. Such initiatives can strengthen trust with better public communication—not erode it.

Use Aadhaar

The rushed voter-roll revision shows how a necessary exercise can turn chaotic without planning or consultation. The exercise is vital for trust in elections, yet the stress on ground staff and the risk of errors only weaken public confidence. A steadier, phased process using Aadhaar-linked verification could achieve accuracy avoiding harm.

Governance distraction

Ref: Assam passes bill banning polygamy (Nov 28). The Assam government's sudden push raises a question: are moral crusades a substitute for governance, or a distraction? At a time when the state grapples with chronic unemployment, systemic corruption, and underperforming services, the focus on private arrangements seems disproportionate. The bill appeals to conservative constituencies, yet offers little structural reform.

While the education system is unravelling, Mamata Banerjee continues to celebrate, not progress, but the slow death of education in Bengal.

● Party delegation leader O'Brien says CEC gave no response to their five questions ● Poll panel seeks claims, objections after Dec 9 when draft list is shared

40 BLO deaths in Bengal so far: TMC

PREETHA NAIR @ New Delhi

A 10-member Trinamool Congress delegation on Friday met with the full bench of the Election Commission of India (EC) here and alleged that around 40 SIR-related deaths had occurred in West Bengal so far, accusing the poll panel chief of having "blood on his hands".

The delegation, led by TMC Rajya Sabha leader Derek O'Brien included Lok Sabha MPs Mahua Moitra, Satabdi Roy, Kalyan Banerjee, Pratima Mondal, Sajda Ahmed, and Rajya Sabha MPs Dola Sen, Mamata Thakur, Saket Gokhale, and Prakash Chik Barik.

Speaking to reporters after the meeting, O'Brien said the party had raised five questions, but Chief Election Commissioner (CEC) Gyanesh Kumar did not respond to any of them. "We started the meeting by stating that the CEC has blood on his hands. We raised five questions. After this, Kalyan Banerjee, Mahua Moitra, and Mamata Thakur spoke and shared whatever they had to in about 40 minutes," O'Brien said. "Then the CEC spoke uninterrupted for one hour. We were also not interrupted while we spoke, but we did not receive any answer to any of our five questions," he added.

O'Brien asserted that the TMC is not opposed to the concept of SIR, but is "strongly opposed to the unplanned manner in which the CEC and EC are going about the job".

Moitra said the delegation shared with the CEC a list of 40 people whose deaths, they alleged, were linked to the SIR exercise. The EC, however, dismissed it as mere allegations, the Lok Sabha MP claimed.

"We started with giving them a list of persons whose deaths are linked to the SIR process... The CEC said these are merely allegations..." Moitra said.

The TMC MPs asked the poll body about the claim that the exercise would weed out non-voters, and questioned why the exercise was not being undertaken in the Northeastern states, which also face the risk of infiltration as they share borders with Bangladesh and Myanmar.

They also questioned how the electoral roll, on which the last Lok Sabha election was held, suddenly became "unreliable". The MPs raised the issues of alleged deaths linked to the SIR process and questioned who would take responsibility for it. Additionally, they expressed worries about the neutrality and effectiveness of the SIR process and noted a recent amendment in the rules by the poll panel that allows for the appointment of external Booth Level Agents (BLAs).

The TMC further informed the CEC that BJP leaders in West Bengal are claiming that one crore voters' names will be deleted.

A party source said they have compiled a list of 60 tragedies linked to SIR - 41 common people and 19 BLOs. Of the common individuals, 35 have died, and six are receiving medical attention. Among the 19 BLOs affected, four have died, while 15 are hospitalised or receiving care.

The Special Intensive Roll revision is currently underway in 12 states and Union territories, including West Bengal, Andaman and Nicobar, Chhattisgarh, Goa, Gujarat, Kerala, Lakshadweep, Madhya Pradesh, Puducherry, Rajasthan, Tamil Nadu, and Uttar Pradesh.

Another BLO dies of heart attack in Gujarat

A school teacher working as a Booth Level Officer (BLO) for the ongoing Special Intensive Revision (SIR) of electoral rolls in Gujarat's Mehsana district died of a heart attack during the early hours of Friday, a police official said. While the opposition Congress and teachers' union linked the BLO's death to excessive work pressure and lack of facilities, police denied the allegations. Congress spokesperson Manish Doshi, however, alleged BLOs are under immense pressure to finish the assigned work in time.

Don't spread misinformation, EC says, trashes Didi charges

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

THE Election Commission of India (ECI) on Friday said that during the meeting with a 10-member Trinamool Congress (TMC) delegation, the full panel gave point-wise rebuttal of all apprehensions and each "baseless allegation" made by the party delegation.

A senior EC official, while talking to this newspaper, said that Chief Election Commissioner Gyanesh Kumar along with Commissioners SS Sandhu and Vivek Joshi also requested the TMC delegation "to give claims and objections after December 9, when the draft list is shared with them".

"Till then, they should not interfere with the independent functioning of booth-level officers (BLOs), electoral registration officers (EROs) and district election officers (DEOs), who are state government employees on deputation to election-related works," he said.

The EC also told the TMC delegation not to influence or threaten the BLOs regarding dead, shifted and duplicate voters, he said, adding that they were informed that only Indian citizens are entitled to vote as per Article 326 of the Constitution and that foreigners cannot be allowed to vote.

According to the official, the EC also asserted in clear terms during the meeting that preparation of electoral rolls as well as conduct of elections in India are held as per the Constitution and electoral law and that the TMC should abide by it.

As the TMC is the ruling party in West Bengal, the official said the delegation was informed that it was "very strange that the enhanced honorarium approved by EC has not yet been disbursed by the state government and this should be done without any further delay".

While noting that political rhetoric is their prerogative, the ECI told the delegation that the party leaders should refrain from spreading misinformation relating to election procedures, the official said.

Meanwhile, the EC has written to the West Bengal Director general of Police (DGP) and the Kolkata Police Commissioner to ensure that the BLOs are not pressurised and threatened by political party workers.

The official said that even as the TMC is opposed to it, the ECI has directed all the DEOs to "ensure new polling stations in slums, high rise buildings and gated residential colonies as is being done across India based on the instructions".

"Based on recent incidents relating to breach of security at the office of Chief Electoral Officer (CEO), West Bengal, the EC has issued directions to shift the office to a security appropriate location and directed the Kolkata Police Commissioner to ensure complete security of the existing as well as the new office of the CEO," the official said.

'Do not influence or threaten BLOs on voters'

The EC also told the Trinamool Congress delegation not to influence or threaten the BLOs regarding dead, shifted and duplicate voters, an official said, adding that they were informed that only Indian citizens are entitled to vote as per the Article 326 of the Constitution.

Court can sit till midnight to deliver justice to poor litigants, says CJI

UDAYAN KISHORE @ New Delhi

CHIEF Justice of India Surya Kant on Friday said there will be no "luxury litigation" in his court as his priority is to ensure justice for poor litigants, emphasising that if required, he will hold the court till midnight for them.

The CJI's remark came after a senior advocate mentioned a matter for urgent hearing. "The big lawyers want us to just hear them. There will be no luxury litigation in my court. My priority is the smallest litigant sitting at the very back and if required, I'll stay here till midnight for them," he said, reaffirming his commitment to access to justice.

On November 24, the day he assumed the office of the CJI, Justice Surya Kant set a new procedural norm that mentioning cases for urgent listing must be made in writing, and oral requests will be entertained under "extraordinary circumstances" like in cases of death penalty and personal liberty.

"If you have any urgent mentioning, give your mentioning slip along with the cause of urgency; the registrar will examine and in those matters, if we find an element of urgency, will take it up... Unless there are extraordinary circumstances involved, when somebody's liberty is involved, there is a question of death sentence etc., then only I will list it. Otherwise, please make a mention... the registry will take a call and list the matter," the CJI said.

Justice Surya Kant had made the observation after a counsel made an urgent mention of a matter relating to the demolition of a canteen.

On November 24, Justice Kant, ook oath as the 53rd Chief Justice of India and will remain in the post for nearly 15 months.

Maha polls can proceed subject to SC decision

UDAYAN KISHORE @ New Delhi

THE Supreme Court on Friday said the Maharashtra state election commission will conduct local body polls as scheduled, but made it clear that results of the bodies where 50% ceiling on OBC quota have been breached will depend on its final verdict.

A bench of Chief Justice Surya Kant and Justice Joymalya Bagchi made the observation and referred the case to a three-judge bench, which will take it up in January 2026.

The bench hearing pleas alleging that Maharashtra's decision to implement a fresh OBC reservation matrix for local body elections based on Banthia Commission's findings exceeded the limit fixed by the SC in earlier cases. The Commission submitted its report in July 2022. The court noted that according to the the state poll body, reservations extended 50% limit in 40 municipal councils and 17 nagar panchayats.

NATIONAL SECURITY

Pak-based terrorists using Trojan malware to hack into WA of CAPF personnel

MUKESH RANJAN @ New Delhi

AFTER Delhi's Red Fort blast, Pakistan-based operatives have stepped up cyber attacks targeting key officials of Central Armed Police Forces (CAPFs) by infecting their Internet-connected devices with Trojan malware with an aim to access sensitive data, sources said.

They said that following the inputs received on this, the Union Ministry of Home Affairs (MHA) has issued instructions to the agencies, which manage the government's online network, to tighten protocols to protect and counter against the looming threats.

According to the sources, many cases of attempts made by Pakistan-based operatives trying to infect CAPF officers' devices with Trojan malware, accessing sensitive data remotely through WhatsApp messages. Senders of such messages posed as officials, even shared group links and exploited internal communication trust.

All the CAPF personnel have been sensitised about the development and instructions have been passed to agencies to tighten protocols to counter the impending threat, they added.

It is learnt from the sources following the recent Delhi blast, that security agencies have circulated an urgent advisory after detecting a fresh modus operandi used by Pakistan-based intelligence operatives to infiltrate secure communication groups of Indian forces.

According to sources, the new tactic involves approaching officers of one of the Central Armed Police Forces (CAPF) through WhatsApp. After chatting, the senders share a group-joining code or link they said, adding that once an officer enters the group through the link, their device becomes vulnerable.

India is voice of balance & responsibility, won't back down on security: Rajnath

MAYANK SINGH @ New Delhi

DEFENCE Minister Rajnath Singh said that India's economic rise, technological progress and principled foreign policy have made it a "voice of balance and responsibility" in a changing world.

Speaking at the Chanakya Defence Dialogue in New Delhi, he noted that countries across the Indo-Pacific and the Global South now see India as a reliable partner.

He stressed that "India is shaping global discussions of today with a sense of responsibility, strategic autonomy and confidence rooted in civilisational values," adding that global trust in India comes from major reforms and its consistent stand for sovereignty and a rules-based order.

Singh spoke about the rising uncertainty in the world, pointing to terrorism, support for extremists from across the border, efforts to change the status quo, pressure in the seas, and the spread of information warfare. He said these challenges make reforms "a strategic necessity more than a choice." According to him, such reforms strengthen institutions, make the Armed Forces more agile and adaptable, and give India the confidence to shape its own future.

Calling resilience as important as capability, Singh said: "India believes in peace and dialogue, but when it comes to the sovereignty and security of the people, we do not compromise." He also emphasised investment in start-ups, deep-tech and R&D.

CUTTING DELAYS, WITH A LITTLE HELP FROM MEDIATORS

OPINION

C RAJ KUMAR
Founding Vice Chancellor, O P Jindal Global (Deemed) University, and Dean, Jindal Global Law School

INDIA gets a new Chief Justice as it marks the 76th anniversary of the adoption of the Constitution. A new judicial era has begun with the appointment of Justice Surya Kant as the 53rd Chief Justice of India. His rise from humble origins to the high office reflects the democratic character and inclusivity of our public institutions.

The new CJI has a unique opportunity to develop the constitutional vision of 'access to justice'. His nearly-15-month tenure has the potential to make a substantive impact on the future of the judiciary. The elements of consensus and continuity while bringing about change will be critical. Given this, CJI Kant should consider focusing on three critical aspects of judicial governance.

The constitutional vision is partly clouded at present. The World Justice Project's Civil Justice Index uses accessibility, affordability, delay, and legal aid as metrics to evaluate justice systems. India ranked 114th out of 143 jurisdictions on the index for 2025. This indicated high costs, long delays, and limited use of alternative dispute resolution (ADR) mechanisms.

Broadening the scope of access to justice beyond the National Legal Service Authority (Nalsa) will require the active involvement of the bar, and of the corporate and transactional world of legal practice. Access to justice ought to be everyone's responsibility.

This brings us to the case for establishing a National Access to Justice Fund to support legal aid and related services. It could be corporate-funded, independently-managed, and tax-incentivised within the broader ambit of Nalsa, directly supporting legal services for people who cannot afford it. This will strengthen and augment Nalsa without compromising on independence or accountability.

Brazil is a good example of according constitutional priority to access to justice. It has established one federal and 27 state public defenders' offices. These are autonomous constitutional bodies that promote access to justice by providing free legal aid, promoting human rights, and defending the individual and collective rights of those in need.

Investing resources in developing a robust ADR framework is critical. The Mediation Act, 2023 established the legal framework for creating the Mediation Council of India to encourage institutional and pre-litigation mediation, and work towards legally-binding settlement agreements. It even permits online and cross-border mediation for certain categories of disputes.

Global experiences inform that a strong mediation-based dispute resolution mechanism can effectively address delays. The Singapore International Mediation Centre has settled more than 70 percent of the cases that had come before it, the same success rate as that of civil mediation in the UK. Nearly 60 percent of the cases in US federal courts get settled through mediation.

GUIDED BY THE VISION OF UNIVERSAL ACCESS TO JUSTICE, THE NEW CHIEF JUSTICE SHOULD INCREASE MEDIATION, SET UP A LEGAL AID FUND, AND THINK OUT OF THE BOX TO FILL JUDICIAL VACANCIES

China has witnessed extraordinary progress in developing mediation organisations as the first line of defence. In 2020, the Supreme People's Court in China launched a one-stop platform for international commercial dispute resolution. The integration of online litigation and mediation led to a 30 percent increase in successful commercial mediation. The country has also mainstreamed mediation and online dispute resolution—over 12 million cases were resolved through pre-litigation mediation in 2023, more than 40 percent of all filings. The scale and scope of mediation in China is worth studying, especially for India, where case pendency is a major issue.

Serious efforts are needed to make mediation prevalent in dispute resolution in India. The idea of dedicated mediation cells with full-time mediators attached to each district court should be considered. The assessment of their performance could be based on settlement rate and user satisfaction. District and subordinate courts should consider organising case management conferences where judges record reasons for not sending cases for mediation.

There is also an urgent need to fill judicial vacancies. Around 20-25 percent of positions in district and subordinate courts and 20-30 percent in high courts are unfilled.The Allahabad High Court has a vacancy of more than 40 percent. The stress on the lower courts, which operate with smaller staffing strengths, is significant as they deal with more than 85 percent of India's caseload. The courts are also struggling with the lack of administrative staff such as court managers, clerks, and stenographers.

Thirteen high courts have reported administrative vacancies of 20-50%. While judicial service examinations are the preferred way of recruiting judges, lateral entries and appointment of part-time judges, especially for district and subordinate courts, can be considered.

India is an outlier among BRICS nations, with the lowest number of judges compared to its population. India has 15 judges per million people—Brazil has 80, China has about 160, and South Africa over 40.

We are also poorly placed in representation of women in the judiciary, at 37.4 percent—38 percent in the subordinate courts and 14 percent in the high courts. The representation is even lesser in the nation's top court—only 3.1 percent. In the last 75 years, only 11 women have been appointed judges of the Supreme Court.

Speaking at a conference earlier this month, Justice Kant had observed, "The notion of access to justice is not an abstract ideal. Rather, it's a sapient right that must be continuously nurtured through institutional strength, professional competence, and compassionate engagement... The journey toward accessible justice is not traversed on a linear path—the road is long and winding."

As the Chief Justice of India embarks on his own journey of judicial, intellectual and moral leadership along that winding road, the constitutional vision of access to justice should be the lodestar. (Views are personal)

Cyber fraudsters cite 'terror links' to target senior citizens

Scamsters change tactic, target you by frightening stories of your involvement in terror cases

Cyber thugs are primarily targeting elderly individuals aged 55–70 years

Bhopal has seen around five to six such cases in the last 10 days alone

WEB OF LIES

The fraudsters first keep a continuous watch on the social media activity (Facebook & Instagram) of these elderly users

They then identify vulnerable targets, particularly former government servants living alone because their children reside elsewhere

The fraudsters make WhatsApp voice calls to the elderly, posing as anti-terror sleuths

Senior citizens are frightened with fabricated stories accusing them of involvement in terror activities, especially of funding terror through their bank accounts

THROUGH VIDEO CALLS, THE VICTIMS ARE KEPT UNDER PROLONGED "DIGITAL ARREST" UNTIL THE SCAMMERS DRAIN THEIR SAVINGS

In Bhopal, a 68-year-old advocate living alone died by suicide this week after being traumatised by fraudsters, who claimed his bank account was used for terror funding

Also in Bhopal, a retired bank official lost ₹68 lakh and another retired man lost ₹8 lakh. A third elderly man realised just in time that he was being targeted by conmen

ANURAAG SINGH @ Bhopal

SENIOR citizens in Madhya Pradesh and Rajasthan are facing a new and highly unsettling cyber-fraud tactic, with criminals impersonating anti-terror investigators, placing victims under a so-called "digital arrest", and extorting huge sums by falsely accusing them of involvement in terror funding.

In Bhopal, the fear triggered by such calls has already claimed a life. Sixty-eight-year-old advocate Shiv Kumar Verma recently died by suicide at his home. A suicide note, purportedly penned by him, revealed the possibility of him being targeted by cyber fraudsters "by threatening stringent action against him for funding the April 22 Pahalgam attack."

According to investigators, the note and subsequent probe by Jahangirabad police suggested that fraudsters, possibly posing as anti-terror sleuths, had told him that his HDFC Bank account was being used for terror funding. With no one else at home and terrified of being labelled anti-national, Verma hanged himself. Police say it is the first suicide in Bhopal linked to digital arrest.

At least five to seven similar incidents have surfaced in the city involving the elderly over the past 10 days. In Bhopal's Kohfiza area, another elderly advocate received calls from men posing as anti-terror cops, but unlike Verma, he realised in time that the callers were fraudsters trying to con him. Others, however, were not so fortunate. A retired bank manager lost ₹68 lakh—his entire savings—after being kept under digital arrest by callers who claimed to be investigating terror-related offences. A retired government servant lost around ₹8 lakh, and an elderly housewife has also reported being targeted in a similar manner.

A cyber cell officer confirmed the modus operandi. "Earlier, such fraudsters posing as cops or sleuths of investigation agencies extorted money from elderlies by triggering fear of their details having been used for money laundering, narcotics smuggling and human trafficking. But with sustained education and awareness about the menace of digital arrest, the cyber thugs' novel modus operandi is creating fear of involvement in terror-related, particularly terror funding cases."

Rajasthan has also reported similar incidents. "In two to three cases in Jaipur and Udaipur, fraudsters have targeted the elderly by linking them to the Delhi blast case," said Shantanu Singh, SP (State Cybercrime–Jaipur).

In Indore, police say the targeting is systematic. Additional DCP (Crime) Rajesh Dandotiya said, "These gangs work in multi layers, one of those layers comprises men and women, who scan the social media activity of senior citizens. The fraudsters zero in on the victims and put them under a digital arrest."

Aadhaar no longer valid as date of birth document: Yogi issues orders to depts

NAMITA BAJPAI @ Lucknow

THE Uttar Pradesh government has issued directives against Aadhaar card being considered as the proof of birth date. On November 24, the state planning department, through a circular, directed all the department heads against the use of Aadhaar cards as birth proof.

In the circular, the departments were asked to refer to the letter issued by Unique Identification Authority of India (UIDAI), dated October 31, 2025, clarifying that "Aadhaar card is not the proof of birth".

Since no birth certificate is attached to Adhaar car, therefore, it cannot be considered a birth certificate," UP's planning department said in a notification issued on Friday.

The Planning Department is the nodal department for implementing directions related to Aadhaar card notified the directive. According to Amit Bansal, Special Secretary, Planning department, in UP Aadhaar Card will no longer be deemed valid as a birth certificate or roof of date of birth.

According to UIDAI letter, undersigned by Deputy Director Aditya Prakash Bajpai, posted at Lucknow regional Office and dated October 31, 2025, Aadhaar Card is not the proof of birth. However, some of the departments are still using it as proof of birth. So they were directed not to accept the document as the proof. Officials said that birth certificate, high-school marksheets and other prescribed documents can be used as proof for date of birth for official purposes, instead.

As per the senior officials, the directive from the planning department assumes significance it was necessary to implement the directive in the places like recruitments, admissions in educational institutions, where age is a very important cut-off criterion. Thus, the departments should take proper supportive documents as proof of date of birth.

Now, prescription a must to purchase cough syrup

The Jharkhand High Court has directed a strict crackdown on the illegal sale of cough syrup and other narcotic medicines across the state. The order was issued during the hearing of a Public Interest Litigation (PIL) highlighting widespread misuse of such drugs, particularly among schoolchildren. The court instructed the state government and all concerned authorities to ensure that no medical store or outlet sells cough syrup or narcotic drugs without a valid prescription from a doctor. The PIL, filed by Sunil Kumar Mahato, cited instances of rampant cough syrup misuse and pointed to a recent seizure of a large quantity in Dhanbad district.

MS Dhoni's warm gesture wins fans' hearts

A special gesture by former Indian cricket captain MS Dhoni is winning hearts. He hosted Team India, which is currently in Ranchi for the first ODI against South Africa, scheduled for November 30, for dinner at his home in Ranchi on Thursday. Dhoni often invites national players to his residence whenever there is an international match in Ranchi, and he didn't miss the chance this time either. After the dinner, Dhoni, known for his warm hospitality, dropped Kohli back to the hotel after the meal. Kohli, who now features only in the ODI format, last played the 50-over series against Australia, where he bounced back with a half-century after enduring two ducks.

Chief Minister Hemant Soren marked one year of his government's second term by distributing 8,792 appointment letters to newly selected candidates. Remembering his recent passing, he said the veteran leader would have been happy to witness so many youths receive appointments.

Militants open fire at Manipur Army jawans

PRASANTA MAZUMDAR @ Guwahati

A patrolling team of the Assam Rifles came under a hail of bullets fired by suspected militants in Manipur's Tengnoupal district along the India-Myanmar border early on Friday.

Official sources have confirmed the incident. The Defence Ministry has released a statement saying, "A patrolling party of Assam Rifles was fired upon by terrorists in Tengnoupal district of Manipur, along the India-Myanmar border on November 28 in the early morning hours. The fire was immediately retaliated [sic] with control and caution, keeping in view civilian safety."

"Operations are under way, with additional troops being deployed in the area," the statement further noted. No militant group has claimed responsibility for the attack so far. Casualties, if any, were not known at the time of going to press.

This comes in the backdrop of a similar attack in the state's Bishnupur district in September, when unidentified gunmen ambushed a mini truck carrying personnel of the Assam Rifles, killing two of them and causing injuries to four others.

The jawans were en route from Imphal to Bishnupur when the attackers struck.

Guv accepts resignation of Udaipur univ V-C amid Aurangzeb remark row

RAJESH ASNANI @ Jaipur

RAJASTHAN Governor Haribhau Kisanrao Bagde has accepted the resignation of Mohanlal Sukhadiya University Vice-Chancellor Sunita Mishra, who recently courted controversy after referring to Mughal ruler Aurangzeb as an "efficient administrator." Her remarks triggered sharp reactions across Udaipur.

The controversy began on September 12 during an international conference on "Roadmap for a Developed India" held at a local college. Speaking in a historical context, Prof. Mishra described Maharana Pratap, Prithviraj Chauhan, and Akbar as good rulers, and referred to Aurangzeb as an efficient administrator. Several student organisations launched protests, and MLA Vishvaraj Singh of the former Mewar royal family also expressed displeasure. Prof Mishra refrained from resigning initially and proceeded on leave on September 23. She still had eight months and nine days left in her tenure. However, her resignation has now been accepted by the Governor.

Multiple complaints were filed against Prof Mishra. Taking these seriously, the state government constituted an inquiry committee chaired by the Udaipur Divisional Commissioner. The committee examined the allegations and submitted its report to the government. State's Technical Advisor BP Saraswat also criticised her remarks. Eventually, Prof Mishra stepped down as Vice-Chancellor. Now that she has resigned, Mohanlal Sukhadia University may get a new Vice-Chancellor within the next three months.

Bone of contention

The controversy began on Sept 12 during an international meet held at a local college. Speaking in a historical context, Vice-Chancellor Professor Sunita Mishra described Maharana Pratap, Prithviraj Chauhan and Akbar as good rulers and Aurangzeb as an efficient administrator.

At DGP meet, Shah credits security grid for Maoist rout

EJAZ KAISER @ Raipur

UNION Home Minister Amit Shah on Friday inaugurated the three-day DGP/IG Conference in Chhattisgarh's Raipur.

"Under the leadership of PM Narendra Modi, the DGP/IGP conference has emerged as a vital forum for resolving the country's internal security challenges—ranging from identifying problems and challenges to formulating strategies and policies," he said on the occasion.

Citing various steps taken by the Modi government for the complete elimination of Maoists, the Home Minister noted that the Centre has strengthened the security grid by constructing 586 fortified police stations in the last seven years. "As a result, the Maoist-affected districts have come down from 126 in the year 2014 to just 11 now. The country will be completely free from the Maoist menace," the Home Minister affirmed.

Shah underlined the Modi government's efforts towards providing lasting solutions to the three hotspots that had become a festering wound for the nation—Naxalism, the North-east and Jammu & Kashmir.

Highlighting the achievements of the Centre, the Home Minister said that the National Investigation Agency (NIA) has been strengthened, the Unlawful Activities Prevention Act (UAPA) has been made more robust, three new criminal laws have been introduced and strong laws have been enacted against narcotics and fugitive offenders. "Once the three new criminal laws are fully implemented, policing in India will become the most modern in the world", he told the gathering.

Shah also recalled that after the Centre banned the Popular Front of India (PFI), nationwide raids were conducted on their hideouts and arrests were made. The Home Minister cited it as an "outstanding example of Centre-state coordination".

He further stated that security forces and police are delivering strong blows to extremism, radicalisation and narcotics by focusing on three key aspects—accuracy of intelligence, clarity of objectives, and synergy in action.

"We must launch a 360-degree attack on narcotics and organised crime and build such a system that drug traffickers and criminals do not get even an inch of space in this country. The time has now come for state police forces to work together with the Narcotics Control Bureau (NCB) and strike hard at narcotics gangs operating at state, national and international levels, and put their masterminds behind bars", the Home Minister reiterated.

Hindu neighbour in Jammu gifts land to Muslim man whose home was razed

FAYAZ WANI @ Srinagar

IN a heart-warming display of compassion and communal harmony, a Hindu resident of Jammu, Kuldip Sharma, gifted five marlas of land to a Muslim journalist Arfaz Daing, whose house was demolished during an anti-encroachment drive by Jammu Development Authority (JDA) a day earlier.

During an anti-encroachment drive in Transport Nagar, the JDA used bulldozers to demolish "illegal structures". Among the structures razed to ground was a house on three marlas of land of local journalist Arfaz Daing, who runs the digital news portal Nees Seher India.

According to Daing, many people have occupied state land of JDA but his home was singled out. "My house was demolished because we show the truth," he alleged, adding he had requested the authorities for additional time but was denied. "We had been living here for 40 years," he said, recalling the moment his home was reduced to rubble.

I have gifted five marlas of land to Arfaz. Our communal harmony will never end. We will support him. There will be more like me

Kuldip Sharma, Arfaz Daing's neighbour

Moved by Daing's plight, a Hindu neighbour of his came forward to help the family rendered homeless. "I have gifted 5 marlas of land to Arfaz. I have made proper revenue documents and got it registered," said Kuldip Sharma. "Our communal harmony will never end. We will support him. There will be more like me," he said. His daughter, Tania Sharma, expressed immense pride in her father's decision. "Humanity is still alive".

Arfaz's father said he felt strengthened by the solidarity shown by people of Jammu. "Thousands of people have extended support," he said.

The demolition has sparked widespread criticism with people questioning selective targeting of Daing's home. CM Omar Abdullah distanced himself from the demolition, saying bulldozers were not used on his directions. Meanwhile, senior BJP leader Ravindra Raina said the L-G's administration had no role in the demolition.

Encroachments put J'khand 'queen of hills' at risk

MUKESH RANJAN @ Ranchi

NETARHAT, long celebrated as the "queen of hills" in Jharkhand, is facing rapid, unchecked construction that residents and conservationists say violates SC guidelines meant to protect Eco-Sensitive Zones (ESZ). Much of the plateau lies next to the Mahuadanr Wolf Sanctuary, the Palamu Tiger Reserve and Betla National Park, placing it firmly within the ESZ where new commercial structures require strict environmental clearance.

According to locals, a surge of illegal hotel and resort construction has triggered what they describe as an environmental, social and legal crisis. The Supreme Court has ruled that any new work inside ESZ boundaries without prior approval is illegal. Yet, several multi-storey hotels have come up in recent months around Netarhat's most sensitive locations, including Sunset Point and Koel View Point.

The plateau borders Mahuadanr Wolf Sanctuary, PTR & Betla National Park, placing it within an eco-sensitive zone

NORMS GO FOR A TOSS

Locals report a surge of illegal hotels and resorts—especially near Sunset Point and Koel View Point. Many lack environmental clearance and NOCs

Activist Govind Pathak says these multi-storey buildings violate ESZ norms, which prohibit new hotels or resorts within one kilometre of protected forests

Pathak links rampant construction, tree felling and expanding concrete cover to rising temperatures

Residents say most of these new buildings lack both environmental clearance and an official no-objection certificate. "In recent months, several new hotels and resorts have sprung up around the extremely sensitive areas of Sunset Point and Koel View Point. Many of the projects are being driven by outside investors, and almost all stand in direct violation of the ESZ norms," said local environmental activist Govind Pathak. He noted that the official Gazette clearly states that no hotels or resorts can be built within one kilometre of any sanctuary or national park, and that large commercial structures are generally not permissible in ESZs. "Construction continues unhindered," he added.

Pathak pointed out visible changes in the region's climate as a sign of ecological stress. "Due to rampant construction during the last few years, the climate here has changed drastically; a place once known for its cool weather throughout the year now requires air conditioning with the onset of the summer season," he said. Illegal construction, tree felling and the steady spread of concrete structures, he added, are seen as major contributors to rising temperatures.

The ESZ Gazette also prohibits new commercial hotels and resorts within one kilometre of protected forests, bars the expansion of existing hotels and permits only local residents to build houses for personal use.

Pathak said he had written to Chief Minister Hemant Soren in July, urging an immediate halt to construction and an inquiry into land acquisition involving tribal plots. "No action was taken in this regard," he said. He now plans to move the Jharkhand High Court.

Local officials claimed that no ESZ committee meeting has been held for several years due to the absence of its Commissioner. They said construction in ESZs is regulated, not banned, but admitted that approvals depend on recommendations that have not been reviewed for a long time.

Trump threatens to suspend migration from 'third world'

New escalation in the anti-migration stance comes a day after 2 soldiers shot in DC by Af national

WASHINGTON

US President Donald Trump said on Thursday he would suspend migration from what he called "third world countries", a day after an Afghan national allegedly shot two National Guard soldiers in Washington, killing one.

His social media post, which also threatened to reverse "millions" of admissions granted under his predecessor Joe Biden, marked a new escalation in the anti-migration stance.

Trump said earlier that Sarah Beckstrom, a 20-year-old West Virginia National Guard member deployed in Washington as part of his crackdown on crime, had died from her wounds.

The FBI has launched an international terror investigation as new details emerged about the alleged gunman, a 29-year-old Afghan national who was a member of the "Zero Units"—a CIA-backed counter-terrorism group, according to multiple US media reports.

The shooting on Wednesday, which officials described as an "ambush-style" attack, has brought together three politically explosive issues: Trump's controversial use of the military at home, immigration, and the legacy of the US war in Afghanistan.

"I will permanently pause migration from all Third World Countries to allow the U.S. system to fully recover," Trump wrote on social media.

He linked the shooting and his decision to send hundreds of National Guard troops to the city. "If they weren't effective, you probably wouldn't have had this done," Trump said.

"Maybe this man was upset because he couldn't practice crime," he said.

Joseph Edlow, Trump's director of US Citizenship and Immigration Services, said on Thursday he had ordered a "full-scale, rigorous reexamination of every Green Card for every alien from every country of concern."

His agency later pointed to a list of 19 countries—including Afghanistan, Cuba, Haiti, Iran and Myanmar—facing US travel restrictions under a previous order from the president in June.

More than 1.6 million US green card holders, roughly 12 percent of the total permanent resident population, were born in the countries listed, according to the latest immigration data available on the agency's "Eligible to Naturalize Dashboard" analyzed by AFP.

Cuba accounts for the largest share, with about 5,60,000 green card holders, followed by Haiti (2,35,000) and Venezuela (1,53,000).

Afghanistan, which has over 1,16,000 green card holders, is also affected by a total halt of immigration application processing, ordered by the Trump administration after the shooting.

The other soldier wounded in Wednesday's attack, 24-year-old Andrew Wolfe, was "fighting for his life", Trump said. The suspected shooter was also in serious condition. AFP

HK blaze toll climbs to 128; 8 arrested by graft watchdog

HONG KONG

HONG Kong's anti-corruption watchdog said it arrested eight people on Friday in connection with a housing estate fire that killed at least 128 people, the world's deadliest building blaze since 1980.

The group of seven men and one woman include "consultants, scaffolding subcontractors and middleman of the project", said the financial hub's Independent Commission Against Corruption (ICAC).

The commission had already opened an investigation into the fire at the residential complex, which was under renovation.

The blaze tore through seven of the eight high-rise blocks at the estate, which contains a total of almost 2,000 units, for more than 40 hours before it was brought under control.

The ICAC said those arrested were aged between 40 and 63 and included "four individuals from the consulting firm of the grand renovation project of Wang Fuk Court, namely two directors and two project managers responsible for supervising the project".

The others arrested included three scaffolding subcontractors and a middleman.

The ICAC, an independent statutory body, did not provide details of the alleged crimes.

ICAC investigators also seized work documents and bank records from 13 premises.

Hong Kong police also announced on Thursday that they had arrested three men on suspicion of manslaughter as part of their investigations. AFP

Toll in Southeast Asia floods tops 300

MEDAN

DAYS of devastating flooding across Southeast Asia have killed over 300 people in Indonesia, Thailand and Malaysia, authorities said on Friday.

Heavy monsoon season rains paired with a tropical storm system inundated areas across the three countries, stranding residents on rooftops and cutting off entire communities.

Authorities in Indonesia were struggling to reach the worst-affected areas on Sumatra island, while authorities at a southern Thailand hospital brought in refrigerated trucks to store bodies after the morgue exceeded capacity.

In Indonesia's West Sumatra province, 53-year-old Misniati described a terrifying battle against rising floodwaters to reach her husband at home. She said that, returning from early morning prayers at a mosque, "I noticed the street was flooded."

"I tried to run back to my house to tell my husband, and the water was already reaching my waist," she told AFP, adding that it was up to her chest by the time she reached home.

"We didn't sleep at all last night, we just monitored the water," said Misniati, who only uses one name.

Officials on Sumatra said flooding and landslides this week had killed at least 174 people, with nearly 80 more missing.

National Disaster Mitigation Agency (BNPB) chief Suharyanto said the toll could grow as rescuers reach isolated areas.

"There are locations that still cannot be reached... where it is indicated that there may be human victims in those areas that are unreachable," Suharyanto said. North Sumatra police spokesman Ferry Walintukan said authorities were focused on "evacuation and providing assistance", although access to some areas and communication was still cut.

"Hopefully, the weather will clear up so we can move the helicopter to the (worst-hit) locations," he said. In Aceh province in Sumatra's north, receding water left behind cars buried in mud almost up to their windows. An AFP journalist saw a truck carrying timber abandoned in the mud, with no sign of the driver. AFP

MAMDANI'S SUPERMARKET EXPERIMENT

New Yorkers struggling to afford food in the country's biggest city—and often exorbitantly expensive financial capital—may finally get a break if the incoming socialist mayor's daring new plan succeeds

WELFARE OVER PROFIT

Mamdani wants city-run supermarkets that prioritise low prices over profits. With rent and tax exemptions, plus centralized distribution, he hopes to finally ease New York's chronic food affordability crisis. The 34-year-old vows the stores will focus "on keeping prices low, not making a profit"

FIVE PILOT

stores on unused city land are planned, alongside free buses and subsidised childcare. But critics say the proposal is vague, with no clarity yet on store locations or models

LOCAL PUSH NOT ENOUGH

Experts say city-level initiatives can only go so far. Long-term food security will ultimately require national policy changes that address affordability, subsidies, and broader economic inequality

1.4 million

New Yorkers lack regular access to healthy food, and one in three depend on food banks. The need for cheaper groceries is urgent, especially in poorer boroughs like the Bronx

"We should redirect public money to a real public option"

Zohran Mamdani, New York mayor

BACKLASH

Trump called Mamdani a "communist," and private supermarket owners fear unfair competition. The political backlash shows how disruptive the idea of public supermarkets is in a market-driven city

MIXED RESULTS SO FAR

NYC's FRESH initiative already incentivises private supermarkets in underserved areas. It's helped expand access modestly, but critics argue it subsidises developers rather than guaranteeing low prices for residents

AI-MODIFIED PIC: BORDER POLICE APOLOGISE

Thai border police have apologised for publishing an AI-modified image showing flood relief rescuers in combat gear and wielding automatic weapons in one of the hardest-hit cities in southern Thailand. Thai authorities have been accused of fabricating evidence in some past cases but netizens were split over the latest fakery, some condemning the manipulation of the image while others wished it was real. Widespread flooding has hit southern Thailand in recent days, with the government confirming that at least 55 people have been killed so far.

13 killed in southern Syria in largest Israeli operation since Assad's fall

DAMASCUS

ISRAELI forces killed 13 people on Friday in a major operation in southern Syria, saying they targeted an Islamist group, in Israel's deadliest attack on the country since Bashar al-Assad's overthrow last year.

Since an Islamist coalition overthrew longtime ruler Assad in December of last year, Israel has conducted hundreds of strikes on Syria's military arsenal as well as incursions into the country.

The Israeli army said an exchange of fire in the operation to detain militants in the Syrian village of Beit Jin left six Israeli soldiers wounded, with three of them in a serious condition.

The official SANA news agency, quoting the Syrian health ministry, reported 13 dead and 24 more wounded in the Israeli operation.

The Syrian foreign ministry condemned the operation as a "war crime" and accused Israel of wanting to "ignite the region".

An AFP journalist saw several wounded people being taken to a hospital in Damascus, around 40 kilometres from the village.

"We were asleep when we were woken up at three in the morning by gunfire," wounded resident Iyad Taher told AFP at al-Mouwassat hospital in the Syrian capital.

"We went outside to see what was happening and saw the Israeli army in the village, soldiers and tanks. Then they withdrew, the air force came, and the shells started falling. I was hit by shrapnel in the neck." AFP

Human washing machine goes on sale in Japan

TOKYO

AFTER wowing World Expo visitors, a human washing machine is now on sale in Japan, a company spokeswoman said on Friday.

Users lie down in the pod, close the lid and get cleaned like clothes in a washing machine—but without the spin—while music plays.

A prototype of the device, called the human washer of the future, attracted long queues at the six-month Expo that wrapped up in Osaka in October after welcoming over 27 million people.

Made by Japanese firm Science, the device is an update of a product displayed the last time Osaka hosted the event, in 1970.

"Our (company) president was inspired by that as a 10-year-old boy at the time," Science spokeswoman Sachiko Maekura told AFP.

Mirai Human Washing Machine | AFP

The machine "not only washes your body but also your soul," she added, while also monitoring users' heartbeats and other vital signs.

After a US resort company contacted Science to see if the prototype would be commercialised, the firm decided to produce it for real.

A hotel in Osaka bought the first machine and is preparing to offer the service to hotel guests, the spokeswoman said.

Other customers include Yamada Denki, a major consumer electronics retail chain in Japan, which hopes the machine will draw people to visit its outlets, she said.

"Because part of the appeal of this machine is rarity, we plan to produce only about 50 units," Maekura said.

Local media reported that the retail price will be 60 million yen ($3,85,000). AFP

PLAYING ON THE FRONT FOOT

India's 8.2% GDP growth in Q2 underscores the economy's inherent resilience and the depth of domestic demand... Our manufacturing and services sectors have demonstrated extraordinary adaptability and momentum. —Anish Shah, Group CEO & MD, Mahindra Group

The growth has been driven by sustained fiscal consolidation, targeted public investment, and various reforms that have strengthened productivity and improved ease of doing business. —Nirmala Sitharaman, Union

A growth rate of over 8% is very impressive. Domestic demand & and deregulation can take it to double digits. We are continuously strengthening our position as the world's fastest growing major economy —Anil Agarwal, chairman, Vedanta Group

the nominal GDP has slowed further, reducing the gap with real GDP to merely 50bps, reflective of the statistical anomaly of the GDP deflator construct

Experts believe economy may lose momentum in second half of the year, calling for monetary support at a time when inflationary pressures have sharply eased

Despite high GDP growth, RBI may go ahead with rate cut

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

DESPITE India's Q2 FY26 GDP growth surprising at 8.2% — well above the Reserve Bank of India's (RBI) projection of 7% — economists continue to expect a 25 bps rate cut in the first week of December.

Experts believe the economy may lose momentum in the second half of the year, calling for monetary support at a time when inflationary pressures have sharply eased.

Radhika Rao, Senior Economist at DBS Bank, said the Monetary Policy Committee (MPC) faces a tricky decision in the upcoming policy review, given the mix of strong growth and record-low inflation. "We expect an emphasis on forward-looking growth guidance and a high real rate buffer due to weak inflation, to justify a move to lower rates further," she said.

The RBI has so far cut the repo rate by 100 bps since February.

Sharing a similar view, Rajani Sinha, Chief Economist at

Care Ratings, said: "While the Q2 growth number is much higher than expected, we feel the central bank could still cut the policy rate in the upcoming meeting on December 5."

"The very low inflation currently gives the central bank an opportunity to cut rates, as growth is likely to moderate in the second half of the year and trade-related uncertainties linger. The central bank will also consider that a part of the strong growth in H1 is due to statistical factors," she adde

Devendra Kumar Pant, Chief Economist at India Ratings, echoed the sentiment, noting that while the robust 8% growth in H1 does not inherently support monetary easing, weak inflation and nominal GDP growth — much lower than the budgeted target — strengthen the case for a rate cut.

"Therefore, we believe the RBI may go for monetary easing of 25-50 bps in the rest of FY26 to support nominal GDP growth. Overall growth in FY26 is expected to exceed the earlier forecast of 7%," he said.

"Despite the high real GDP growth, we retain our expectation of a 25 bps rate cut in the upcoming policy as the inflation trajectory remains benign," said Upasna Bhardwaj, Chief Economist at Kotak Mahindra Bank.

However, Aditi Nayar, Chief Economist at ICRA Ratings, believes a rate cut next week is unlikely. "With Q2 GDP growth exceeding 8%, the probability of a rate cut in the December 2025 review has certainly eased, notwithstanding the series-low CPI inflation print for October 2025," she said.

The government earlier in the day said the economy grew at a much faster pace of 8.2% recording a six-quarter high in the September quarter.

Average consensus was 7.3% and the revised RBI estimate was 7%. This takes the first half growth to 8%. In the first quarter the economy clipped at 7.8%.

Frontloaded export production, sustained rural demand, government spending and a lower GDP deflator due to soft inflation have lifted Q2 growth above expectations — and the momentum may continue despite external trade headwinds.

"The GST rate cuts and higher disposable incomes from tax relief at the lower end of the tax bracket should keep urban demand supported. At the same time, good monsoon rainfall and the absence of major climatic disruptions point to rural demand holding up well, giving us confidence of a strong GDP print in the second half," said Ranen Banerjee, Partner, PwC India.

Robust second quarter numbers to fuel optimism in equity market: Experts

ARSHAD KHAN @ New Delhi

A DAY after the India's equity markets breached new records, the latest gross domestic product (GDP) data, released by the Ministry of Statistics and Programme Implementation (MoSPI), is expected to boost optimism in markets. However, experts believe maintaining momentum remains a challenge. The BSE Sensex on Friday, declined by 13.7 points, or 0.02%, closing at 85,706.67, while the NSE Nifty 50 slipped 12.6 points, or 0.05%, to settle at 26,202.95.

"This week the markets didn't quite take a clear direction, however towards the latter half of the week it turned positive. The GDP data at 8.2% real growth rate is likely fuel further optimism for the next week," said Vikas Gupta, CEO

& Chief Investment Strategist at OmniScience Capital.

He added that industrials and manufacturing combined with services, especially financial services and banks are likely to see a positive impact. "The focus should be on the longer-term impact, where strong manufacturing and exports growth, steel consumption, double-digit bank credit growth are indicative of future economic health, all combined with a low inflation," he said.

India's economy grew at a six-quarter high of 8.2% in Q2FY26 compared to 7.8% in the previous quarter.

Vinod Nair, Head of Research, Geojit Investments, said that the stronger-than-expected Q2 GDP print, driven by resilient manufacturing, solid construction activity, and healthy private consumption, is set to support sentiment in the near term.

"With robust GDP momentum and improving credit growth providing a solid backdrop for earnings acceleration in H2, the medium-term outlook remains positive. However, pockets of short-term volatility may persist, influenced by global cues and central bank policy announcements," he added.

First week of December to witness 11 public issues, raising ₹7,000 crore

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

THE first week of December is set to witness 11 initial public offerings (IPOs), including e-commerce major Meesho.

Meesho is raising ₹5,422 crore, almost 40% lower than planned earlier, and listing will be opened on December 3. All the 11 IPOs combined together are raising ₹7,000 crore, helping the overall IPO market to cross the record ₹1,59,784 crore fundraising achieved last year.

The primary market has already raised ₹1,52,623 crore till November 14. The street had set a record last rear mopping up ₹1,59,784 crore through the primary markets.

All the three mainboard issues — Meesho, Aequs and Vidya Wires are opening on December 3.

Meesho issue, comprising ₹4,250 crore of fresh issue and ₹1,055 crore in OFS, values the company at nearly ₹50,000 crore and hands high gains to founders, and early investors like Elevation, Peak XV and YC Continuity Fund.

The company on Friday set the price band at ₹105-111 per share, valuing the platform at nearly ₹50,096 crore at the upper end.

At the upper end of the price band, OFS proceeds fall to about ₹1,172 crore, down from ₹1,950 crore earlier, while the fresh issue component stays unchanged at ₹4,250 crore, taking the overall issue size to ₹5,422 crore.

Meesho IPO at ₹105-111

The Bengaluru-based Meesho, which competes with Walmart's Flipkart and Amazon, was targeting a post-money valuation of around $5.93 billion or ₹52,500 crore through the issue.

Vidya Wires is also launching its ₹300-crore IPO on December 3, at a price band of ₹48-52/share. The company aims to raise ₹274 crore by issuing fresh shares, while promoters will be selling shares worth ₹26 crore via offer-for-sale.

Govt to upgrade chipmaking firm in Mohali: Min

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

UNION IT Minister Ashwini Vaishnaw said on Friday that the Union government is planning to invest ₹4,500 crore state-owned chipmaking company Semi-Conductor Laboratory (SCL) over the period of three years.

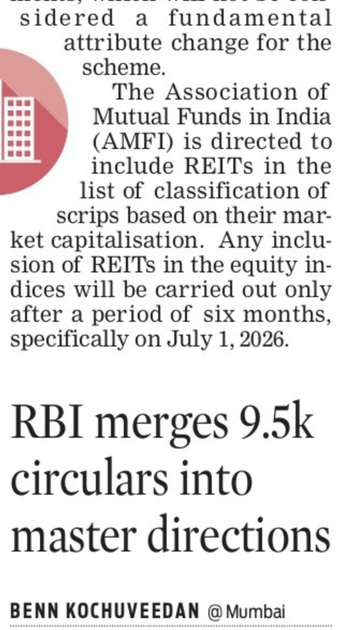
The SCL, an autonomous body under the Ministry of Electronics and Information Technology (MeitY), is the only integrated device manufacturing facility in the country providing end-to-end solutions for the development of Application Specific Integrated Circuits (ASICs), opto-electronics devices, and Micro Electro Mechanical System (MEMS) devices.

Fiscal deficit widens as capex rises 55%

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

INDIA'S fiscal deficit rose to ₹8.3 lakh crore during April-October FY26 period, accounting for around 53% of the full-year Budget Estimate (BE), up from ₹7.5 lakh crore or 48% of the previous year's provisional estimate in the same period. The widening gap comes despite an improvement in the revenue deficit, driven largely by strong capital expenditure and higher non-tax revenues.

The Union government's capital expenditure surged 32% year-on-year to ₹6.2 lakh crore in the first seven months of the financial year, achieving 55% of the budgeted target versus 44% in the same period last year. A 28% contraction in October — attributed to festive holidays — followed a strong



31% expansion in Q2.

Given the front-loaded spending, capex would need to contract 14% in the remainder of the fiscal to stay within budget unless allocations are revised upward. The Centre's revenue deficit narrowed to ₹2.4 lakh crore from ₹3 lakh crore a year ago, as revenue expenditure remained flat and non-tax revenues surged 22%. This helped offset a 2% contraction in net tax revenues due to higher tax devolution to states. Non-interest, non-subsidy revenue expenditure fell 6.4% in the first seven months, implying it would need a sharp 28% growth in the final months to meet the full-year target.

Gross tax revenues grew a robust 14% in October 2025 on a low base. However, growth during April-October remained muted at 4% year-on-year, with a 6.9% rise in income tax and a 5.2% increase in corporate tax collections. Indirect taxes grew just 2.6%, as customs duties contracted 2.5% and CGST and excise duty collections grew at a modest 6-8%.

With the delayed personal income tax filing deadline now behind, analysts expect growth to normalise — but the challenge ahead remains steep. "A 24% expansion in gross tax revenues is needed in the remaining months to meet the FY26 BE," Aditi Nayar, Chief Economist at ICRA Ltd said, adding that CGST collections would need to rise 18% in the final five months, making a shortfall likely. ICRA estimates gross tax revenues could fall short of the ₹42.7 lakh crore budget target by ₹1.2-1.5 lakh crore. This may be partly offset by higher non-tax revenues — expected to exceed the budget estimate by around ₹50,000 crore due to a larger RBI surplus transfer.

From Jan 1, REITs to be equity for MFs

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ New Delhi

THE Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI) on Friday said that effective January 1, 2026, Real Estate Investment Trusts (REITs) will be reclassified as equity-related instruments for investments made by Mutual Funds and Specialised Investment Funds (SIFs). This move is intended to facilitate enhanced participation by these funds in REITs.

All investments made by Mutual Funds and SIFs in REITs will be treated as investments in equity-related instruments starting on the effective date. Infrastructure Investment Trusts (InvITs) will continue to be classified as hybrid instruments for Mutual Fund and SIF investment purposes.

Existing investments in REITs held by debt schemes of Mutual Funds and investment strategies of SIFs as of December 31, 2025, shall be grandfathered. However, Asset Management Companies (AMCs) are encouraged to make efforts to divest these REIT holdings from debt schemes, taking market conditions, liquidity, and investor interests into consideration.

AMCs are required to issue an addendum to make necessary changes in scheme documents, which will not be considered a fundamental attribute change for the scheme.

The Association of Mutual Funds in India (AMFI) is directed to include REITs in the list of classification of scrips based on their market capitalisation. Any inclusion of REITs in the equity indices will be carried out only after a period of six months, specifically on July 1, 2026.

Aakash puts TLPL's share allotment on hold

ENS ECONOMIC BUREAU @ Chennai

THE board of directors of Aakash Educational Services Limited (AESL) has put Think & Learn Pvt Ltd (TLPL)'s share allotment of ₹25 crore, alleging that the amount by the BYJU's parent company does not comply with Foreign Exchange Management Act (FEMA) rules, the Companies Act or the External Commercial Borrowings (ECB) guidelines, the AESL said on Friday.

Concluding the ₹100-crore rights issue, the board of AESL has approved the allotment of shares to the Manipal Group and Beeaar Investco Pte. Ltd, which contributed ₹58 crore and ₹16 crore, proportionate to their shareholding of 58.8% and 16%, respectively.

TLPL, the parent company of BYJU'S, is currently undergoing corporate insolvency resolution process (CIRP). Resolution Professional of TLPL had unsuccessfully opposed the rights issue before the NCLT, NCLAT and the Supreme Court. Yet, TLPL tried to subscribe by depositing ₹25 crore. Riju Ravindran, a former promoter of TLPL, has filed an application before the NCLT, Bengaluru, alleging that TLPL raised the money for its ₹25-crore rights issue subscription by issuing ₹100 crore of debentures in a structure that may violate FEMA, the ECB guidelines and the Foreign Exchange Management (Non-Debt Instruments) Rules, 2019. The NCLT is examining these allegations.

It is clear the money received by TLPL is in the nature of a loan/ debenture in the framework of ECB and cannot be used for the purpose of acquisition of equity.

Sanjay Garg, Head of Legal, Aakash Educational Services

On AESL's insistence for clarity about compliance of funds, the RP provided the Debenture Subscription Agreement executed between TLPL and Byju's Alpha Inc. (a Delaware-incorporated investor), along with a legal opinion stating that the subscription money did not violate FEMA laws.

The AESL then obtained independent opinions of a former Supreme Court justice and a retired RBI general manager, who indicated that the debenture issuance and the inflow of funds did not comply with FEMA, ECB Guidelines, or the Companies Act.

BENN KOCHUVEEDAN @ Mumbai

TAIWAN

GDP FORECAST HITS 15-YEAR HIGH ON SURGE IN AI DEMAND

Taiwan's tech-heavy economy is expected to grow at its fastest pace in 15 years, riding the wave of demand for artificial intelligence (AI) technology, the statistics office said on Friday, though US tariffs are likely to cloud the outlook next year. Gross domestic product (GDP) is expected to expand by 7.37% this year, much better than the 4.45% pace it predicted in August and a level not seen since the 10.25% posted in 2010, said the Directorate General of Budget, Accounting and Statistics. Taiwan plays a pivotal role in the global AI supply chain for companies such as Nvidia and Apple. Its position is anchored by the world's largest maker of chips used in AI applications, Taiwan Semiconductor Manufacturing (TSMC). "The growth beat expectations on strong demand for AI servers as US CSP continued to intensify their competition," said analyst Kevin Wang of Taishin Investment Advisory. The agency, however, is cautious about the GDP growth outlook in 2026 over concerns about the impact of US tariffs.

SAUDI ARABIA

MAY REDUCE JANUARY OIL PRICES TO ASIA TO 5-YEAR LOW

Saudi Arabia is expected to lower its January crude price for Asian buyers for a second month to its lowest level for five years, tracking the decline in spot benchmark prices, sources said on Friday. The January official selling price for flagship Arab Light crude will likely decline by 30-40 cents a barrel to a premium between 60 cents and 70 cents to the average of Oman/Dubai quotes, five Asia-based refining sources said in a survey. That would mark a second monthly decline and the lowest since January 2021, Reuters data showed. The January OSPs for other crude grades - Arab Extra Light, Arab Medium and Arab Heavy - could fall by 30-50 cents a barrel from December, the sources said. The forecasts mirrored a downward trend in cash Dubai's premium to swaps, which have averaged 90 cents per barrel so far this month, down 32 cents from October. The pressure came from ample supplies and a surplus outlook as the Organization of the Petroleum Exporting Countries plus Russia and other allies, known as OPEC+, lift output and demand growth slows.

SOUTH KOREA

TO CUT PLANNED INCOME TAX ON DIVIDEND PAYOUTS

South Korea's ruling and opposition parties agreed on Friday to lower income tax on dividend payouts to a maximum of 30%, from the government's proposal of 35%, domestic media said. Lawmakers of the ruling Democratic Party and the main opposition People Power Party told reporters they had reached an agreement, the Yonhap news agency and other media said. In annual tax code revisions announced in July and currently being reviewed by parliament, the government said it would tax dividend income separately to encourage higher dividend payouts by companies. But investors criticised its proposal of a maximum of 35% as too high.

Mhatre to lead India in U19 Asia Cup

Promising batter Ayush Mhatre was on Friday retained as captain of a 15-member Indian team for the upcoming U19 Asia Cup in which the focus will be again on teen batting sensation Vaibhav Sooryavanshi. The age-group continental tournament will be held in Dubai from December 12-21 in 50-overs format.

Good Friday: India too hot for Chile

Hosts outplay South American team 7-0 in their opening match of the Junior WC at Mayor Radhakrishnan Stadium

INDRANEEL DAS @ Chennai

AT the stroke of the first quarter, India missed their first penalty corner — one of the biggest concerns they have been facing so far. Low conversion rate has been haunting them. The first quarter ended 0-0. That's not the script India were looking for against Chile, considered one of the minnows in the sport, in their first match of the Junior Men's Hockey World Cup here at the Mayor Radhakrishnan Hockey Stadium on Friday.

Then the floodgates opened. The second quarter saw two field goals in quick succession by Rosan Kujur (16th and 20th minutes) followed by another four minutes later by Dilraj Singh, who converted a penalty corner. Finally, the scoreline read 7-0. It reflected India's dominance and what was expected of the team against Chile.

Ajeet Yadav, Anmol Ekka and captain Rohit were the other scorers. Ajeet scored through a brilliant field effort in the 34th minute while Anmol converted a penalty corner in the 47th minute. The Indian captain scored through a penalty stroke in the 60th minute. Kujur was exceptional and is deservedly awarded the player of the match title. In front of a good evening crowd that enjoyed a short cultural programme before the start, India played the way they were expected. So many times has the FIH president Tayyab Ikram come to this city for international matches and events that he started his ceremonial speech in Tamil on Friday. No wonder, by the time this World Cup ends, he might even deliver the whole concluding speech in the same language. Meanwhile, the crowd chanted 'Sreejesh, Sreejesh,' as the match progressed. The man who seems to be in focus even more than the team is PR Sreejesh, the coach of the team. For someone who has spent close to three decades watching from the best possible place the game could afford, knowing the angles, gaps, positions, drifts, drags and flicks, understanding the game and finally, imparting lessons, seems like a natural progression.

FRIDAY'S RESULTS

Pool A: Germany 4-0 South Africa; Canada 3-4 Ireland; Pool B: India 7-0 Chile, Oman 0-4 Switzerland; Pool C: Argentina 4-1 Japan; New Zealand 5-3 China; Pool D: Belgium 12-1 Namibia; Spain 8-0 Egypt.

The former India goalkeeper did not waste time cooling off after his second Olympic bronze medal. He had seen enough from the goal-line and shifted his attention to the sidelines where the master of orchestra in hockey would position himself as the coach. On Friday, in his biggest assignment of his nascent career as a coach, he was there watching his wards enact a performance a teacher would be happy with. It took 15 minutes for the team to warm up, but soon all the pieces of the 18-piece ensemble jived in unison. From the defence to the forwards, the transition in between, the players at the Junior World Cup performed like a well-oiled unit. The team arrived in Chennai early and got the feel of the turf and the weather and those vagaries of conditions were laid to rest. For the coach too, Chennai is where he usually thrived in his greatness and it's this place he calls a home.

After the match, Sreejesh talked about India's slow start and said the first match of the tournament has its own challenges. "Starting trouble," he began. "Players are hesitant in the beginning and when they find the rhythm they started to penetrate and score."

From attending his ailing father to leading India

For captain Rohit, it was a different story. This is his second junior World Cup and he would want to leave his mark. Considered a drag-flick exponent, he would like to lead by example. His senior and India's drag-flicker Harmanpreet Singh has already noticed him. Rohit is hoping to emulate him. But a few months ago, things were not easy. He was fighting another battle. Training in Bengaluru, Haryana's defender Rohit got to know about his father, Udayveer's health issues. A small-time farmer from Dabra village of Hisar, Udayveer experienced angina pain (discomfort that occurs when the heart muscle doesn't receive enough oxygen-rich blood) and was advised stent implantation by attending doctors. "Rohit came back to the village on a few days leave to attend his ailing father," Rajender Sihag, his childhood coach from Dabra village, told this daily.

Holders Germany hit four past South Africa

EXPRESS NEWS SERVICE @ Madurai

JUSTUS Warweg scored two field goals as reigning champions Germany started their campaign with a thumping 4-0 win over South Africa in Madurai on Friday. The seven-time winners, however, could convert only one of five penalty corners awarded to them and that would be the aspect they would look to improve on as the tournament progresses.

Their opponents, too, earned five short corners but could not only convert any of them to go down without scoring. Warweg scored the field goals in the 19th and 56th minutes while Ben Hasbach (43rd) scored through a penalty stroke and Paul Glander converted a penalty corner the next minute to take the game away from South Africa. In the first match of Pool A, Ireland beat Canada 4-3 in a tight contest. Ireland took the lead in the 13th minute through a field goal from Louis Rowe but Canada equalised in the 26th minute through a field goal from Gurnoor Bhullar. Rowe scored another fine goal from open play in the 33rd minute.

BOXING

'EXCITED' NIEVA SETS SIGHT ON OLY MEDALS

ANMOL GURUNG @ Chennai

SANTIAGO Nieva is braced for a second innings in Indian boxing.

Armed with wealth of wisdom and belief, the Argentina-born tactician from Sweden is aiming for the sky. There's a genuine sense of excitement in his voice as he talked about his ambitions to shape the pugilists to Olympic level and help them to a medal at the 2028 LA Games. Officially announced as head coach of women's national boxing team by Boxing Federation of India (BFI) on Friday, the 50-year-old, who previously served as India's high performance director from 2017 to 2021, is expected to join the team at the end of the year. "It's a great opportunity. I always remember the good years I had in India. When they reached out, they showed interest. It means the support is there. They want me in the team," Nieva told this daily from Brisbane, where he is currently based as he was associated with Boxing Australia. He had served as national head coach and technical lead of Boxing Australia's high performance unit. With Nieva at the helm, Australian boxers had achieved many firsts at elite-level competitions including the Paris Games and the World Championships.

Santiago Nieva | SPECIAL ARRANGEMENT

The Indian women's boxing team had one of the best seasons in recent times, winning medals across competitions including the World Championships. Jaismine Lamboria (57kg), who captured gold during the Liverpool World Championships and the recent World Boxing Cup Finals 2025, was at her peak. Meenakshi Hooda (48kg) had a similar script and was another star performer. Two-time world champ Nikhat Zareen also joined the winners' list during the World Boxing Cup Finals. The 2024 Paris Games was a hard pill to swallow but the women have largely eclipsed their male counterparts over the years and Nieva's white whale is to guide them to Olympic glory. "Obviously, India has been doing great lately, especially in women's categories. The team has already had great results in Tokyo and the World Championships. It's exciting. We need to take that and transfer it to Olympic success because that's where we have been lacking. We need to try and go beyond the bronze medal. Whatever results we are able to pull off in the World Cups or World Championships, we need to be able to take that to the Olympic level and bring multiple medals and hopefully, all the way to gold. That's my main target. Obviously, there's no guarantee for success but with the hard work, smart work and team work, most importantly, I believe we'll get there in LA," he said.

Understandably, it was hard for Nieva to say his goodbyes to his wards Down Under. He's still in the process of doing that. Before his new chapter begins, Nieva wants to assess the environment before making key decisions on and off the ring. "It's too early to tell (plans). I need to go there and find out how things are going on at the moment. It's not about trying to change everything. Those things that are working well, we should continue with that. Most people know me, my training methods (...)."

India vs SA: Focus on team combo ahead of 1st ODI

AGENCIES @ Ranchi

RISHABH Pant's place in the playing eleven is far from guaranteed, while Washington Sundar and Nitish Kumar Reddy are locked in a tight contest for the additional all-rounder's slot as India confront several selection dilemmas ahead of the first ODI versus South Africa.

At the same time, broader needs of the white-ball season will also weigh heavy on India team management's mind when they tackle the tricky selection questions. Balance and conditions will largely dictate the selection but with several seniors rested, the opening game of the series could offer a glimpse into the selectors' medium-term planning.

SMAT: Dhull stars as Delhi beat TN

ENS/AGENCIES @ Ahmedabad

YASH Dhull made an explosive fifty, leading Delhi to a thrilling victory over Tamil Nadu in a Group D match of the Syed Mushtaq Ali Trophy match on Friday.

Once Tamil Nadu scored a competitive 198 for seven in 20 overs, Dhull (71) glued together Delhi's chase with his aggressive fifty, as they ended up with 203/4 in 20 overs.

During his stay, the 23-year-old engaged in three partnerships — the most crucial one being the 61-run alliance with Ayush Badoni for the third wicket. But Dhull fell to TN left-arm seamer T Natarajan, and Badoni departed, giving a catch to Shahrukh Khan off pacer Sonu Yadav. Delhi still needed 12 runs off the last over and two runs off the last ball. Himmat Singh eased the worries in Delhi camp with a six off the final ball. Earlier, India batter B Sai Sudharsan was ousted by former India pacer Ishant Sharma for 13 off 10 balls. But Tamil Nadu found other saviours on the day in openers Tushar Raheja (72) and Amit Sathvik (54). It laid the platform for a near-200 total, and for Delhi pacer Prince Yadav took three wickets.

Brief scores: Tamil Nadu: 198/7 in 20 overs (Tushar Raheja 72, Amit Sathvik 54; Prince Yadav 3/43) lost to Delhi: 203/4 in 20 overs (Yash Dhull 71, Priyansh Arya 35, Nitish Rana 34, Ayush Badoni 41) by 6 wickets.

Kerala suffer defeat

India wicketkeeper-batter Sanju Samson fell for a 25-ball 19 in Kerala's 32-run defeat against Railways. Samson was dismissed by Karn Sharma in the 10th over with Kerala slipping to 43 for three, and they failed to resurrect their chase, making a modest 117 for eight in 20 overs in reply to Railways' 149/7.

Malen's double inspires Villa

AGENCIES @ London

DONYELL Malen scored twice for Aston Villa in a 2-1 win over Young Boys in a Europa League game that was temporarily halted because of crowd trouble that included the forward being hit by an object thrown from the stands. Malen appeared to be struck by a plastic cup after his 27th-minute goal 'leaving a small cut on his head' and Young Boys fans again pelted the Villa players with thrown objects after the Dutch forward doubled the lead. Meanwhile, Roma beat Midtjylland 2-1 at Stadio Olimpico.

AUCTION TACTICS

Inside RCB's squad construction for upcoming season of WPL

GOMESH S @ New Delhi

AROUND 6.50 PM on Thursday, during the Women's Premier League auction, a bidding war between Royal Challengers Bengaluru and UP Warriorz (UPW) caught the attention of everyone in the room. RCB, with ₹2.8 crore in their purse, and UPW (₹3.85 crore) — both had ten players in their squads — were going toe-to-toe to sign Shikha Pandey and not worried about breaking the bank.

RCB went up to ₹2.2 crore (which would have left them with 11 players and ₹60 lakh) before hitting pause. UPW eventually signed Pandey for a whopping ₹2.4 crore, the third-highest pay of the day. RCB — who had their eyes set on Pandey, the best Indian pacer in three years of WPL — had to swiftly go to their alternate plans. Over the next few minutes, they went on to sign Arundhati Reddy (₹75 lakh) and Pooja Vastrakar (₹85 lakh), leaving them enough money to sign four more players, including all-rounder Grace Harris.

Going that high for Pandey and letting go at the right moment was a calculated choice RCB had to make in the heat of the moment. And it was not first such bid of the day. Early on in the afternoon, RCB fought hard to sign Sophie Devine again before Gujarat Giants (GG) eventually got her for ₹2 crore.

What would have happened had they signed Pandey for ₹2.2 crores? RCB head coach Mololan Rangarajan says they had alternate plans ready accordingly. For him, the decisions taken are a product of weeks and months of work that have gone behind the scenes in auction preparation and the trials they had in Surat and Mumbai, especially after retaining four players. "The biggest challenge post the retention, and I'm not talking about RCB in isolation is there was a huge delta in the purse," Rangarajan said in a select media interaction. "When there's a team at ₹14.5 crore, there's a team at nine crore, and then there's a drop to 5.5 and six. You have to be very clear. There's a lot of work being put in by our analysts behind the scenes, trying to understand what it takes to win the WPL. And having been one of the teams that won the tournament, unfortunately, most of the players we missed in the last edition. So, how can we make that side better with the available options? And then you see, this is the money we have. How can we be aggressive to get the best unit we think we can?

"That preparation involves a lot of data. Involves a lot of subjective experience and wisdom (from) people like Anya Shrubsole, RX Muralidhar, Sunetra Paranjpe, and all our coaches. We have five scouts who are watching games all around. We spoke about the trials. Then we start prioritising. With this money, we want to bring these kinds of players. Shikha, obviously because we could, is why we went till that number. It would have meant a little bit of compromise in other areas. But we would have more or less got the team. We still had a plan. And it was all going to plan," he explained. Before breaking down the squad and how it all came together, Rangarajan added, "I have said this before and I have learned this. You don't win the WPL in the auction. You certainly stand a chance of losing the WPL in the auction. So I think there's one step we've taken. Now we need our coaches and everybody to work with the players and make them excel on the field."

The calculated approach Rangarajan mentioned with their purse was crucial, especially in the first few rounds. RCB did not pick anyone in the marquee round and even saw Renuka Singh Thakur and Devine go to GG. They knew they had to play the waiting game, especially with the player pool to come later. And even then, they had to be cautious with who they went for and for how much. Take the case of Sophie Ecclestone.

Mean AQI derived from daily AQI values for each city from 2015 to 20 November 2025. Data | Source: Central Pollution Control Board (CPCB), Government of India (cpcb.gov.in)

A decade-long analysis of air quality across 11 major Indian cities shows that none met safe AQI standards between 2015 and 2025, with Delhi remaining the worst performer. Northern metros such as Lucknow and Varanasi continued to record persistently high pollution levels due to winter inversion and regional meteorology, while cities like Chennai, Mumbai and Bengaluru showed moderate but still unsafe air. Despite some improvements after 2020, the report warns that urban India remains trapped in a cycle of chronic pollution driven by traffic, industry and seasonal weather patterns.

NO INDIAN METRO CITY MEETS SAFE AQI STANDARDS, DELHI WORST

SV KRISHNA CHAITANYA @ Chennai

INDIA'S biggest cities have endured a decade of unhealthy to hazardous air, with none meeting safe Air Quality Index (AQI) standards between 2015 and November 2025, according to a new analysis by Climate Trends, a New Delhi-based Organisation. Drawing on long-term data from the Central Pollution Control Board (CPCB), the report reveals deeply entrenched pollution trends, severe deterioration in northern cities, and the escalating impact of winter meteorology on air stagnation.

The study compared mean AQI values across 11 major cities, including Delhi, Bengaluru, Mumbai, Chennai, Varanasi, Lucknow, Ahmedabad, Pune, Visakhapatnam, Kolkata, and Chandigarh. It concludes that "none of the top urban centres in India can be considered safe in terms of air quality", despite improvements in select cities after 2020.

Delhi remained the most polluted city across the entire assessment period, with AQI levels peaking above 250 in 2016 and stabilising around 180 in 2025, far beyond acceptable limits. The report attributes this to a combination of vehicular emissions, industrial activity, winter inversion, and crop-burning impacts.

Although the capital saw a minor decline in pollution after 2019, the city "never approaches safe thresholds and continues to experience chronic poor air quality." The charts on page 4 illustrate how Delhi consistently surpasses all other cities year after year.

Lucknow, Varanasi and Ahmedabad also exhibit persistently high AQI values. Lucknow and Varanasi frequently registered levels above 200 until 2020, while Ahmedabad fluctuated between 110 and 160, with only modest improvement after 2017. Even Varanasi's recent gains have not pushed it into the "safe" category.

These cities lie in the Indo-Gangetic Plains, a region the report describes as a "meteorological trap", where winter inversion, cold north-westerly winds and the Himalayan topography combine to lock pollutants close to the ground.

Chennai, Mumbai, Visakhapatnam, Kolkata, and Chandigarh show moderate AQI values, mostly ranging between 80 and 140, with some encouraging declines post-2020. Chennai and Mumbai in particular improved in 2024–25, likely reflecting cleaner fuels, emission norms, and a slowdown during pandemic years. However, the report stresses that even these gains fall short of safe benchmarks.

Bengaluru recorded the lowest AQI among all cities, mostly between 65 and 90, yet still above the "Good" category. Rapid urbanisation, traffic density, and construction are keeping pollution levels from dropping further, the document notes.

One of the most striking findings is that Delhi's air quality did not improve in late 2025 despite a "massive decrease" in farm fires, revealing the overpowering role of meteorology. The absence of rain from October 1 to November 28 — combined with weak Western Disturbances —prevented natural pollutant washout. "With cold north-westerly winds sweeping into the plains, minimum temperatures are set to drop further — making it even harder for pollutants to disperse… Without rain to wash pollutants out of the atmosphere, the pollution lingers for longer periods, leading to early and persistent smog-like conditions," said Mahesh Palawat, vice president, meteorology and climate change, Skymet Weather.

The report explains how winter inversion creates an atmospheric "lid," trapping cool air below warm layers and restricting vertical mixing. Combined with the Himalayas blocking airflow to the north, pollutants accumulate through December and January.

The study emphasises the need for proactive, technology-driven pollution control rather than reactive responses. "Technology can help address many local pollution sources within your own airshed, but this requires reliable data…We need an intelligent decision-support system to guide choices, whether it's assessing if an anti-smog gun is effective, cost-efficient, or even necessary," said Prof SN Tripathi, dean, Kotak School of Sustainability at IIT-Kanpur. He warned that poorly designed interventions can worsen the situation, making real-time evaluation crucial.

Highlighting the socio-economic dimension of India's air crisis, Palak Balyan, research lead at Climate Trends, said: "Moving to another city for cleaner air isn't a real solution…people who spend more time outdoors, like street vendors, sanitation staff, transport workers and construction workers, feel the impact the most. Over time, pollution also influences the quality of life, productivity, and economic well-being. Instead of short-term fixes…investing in systemic change is the only way to truly tackle the country's pollution crisis."

The report's 10-year dataset leads to a stark conclusion: no Indian metro currently provides safe air for its residents. Pollution is driven by traffic, industrial activity, construction, regional emissions, and unfavourable winter meteorology—pressures that span geography and governance.

Key Findings

NO MAJOR CITY ACHIEVED SAFE AQI LEVELS

Across all 11 cities analysed, every single location reported AQI values above safe limits for most or all the decade. Even the least polluted metros frequently exceeded recommended thresholds.

DELHI REMAINS THE MOST POLLUTED CITY

- Recorded the highest AQI almost every year.
- Peaked in 2016 at over 250.
- Despite slight improvement after 2019, 2025 still shows ~180, far from safe.

POLLUTION IS DRIVEN BY: dense traffic · industrial emissions · winter inversion · crop-burning impacts

NORTHERN CITIES SHOW PERSISTENT HIGH POLLUTION

Cities such as Lucknow, Varanasi, and Ahmedabad show consistently high AQI levels:

- Lucknow and Varanasi frequently stayed above 200 until 2020.
- Slight downward trends appear, but 2025 values still exceed safe air quality.
- Ahmedabad fluctuates but remains mostly between 110–160.

MODERATELY POLLUTED CITIES STILL NOT "SAFE"

Cities like Kolkata, Chandigarh, Visakhapatnam, Mumbai, and Chennai show moderate pollution:

- AQI ranges mostly between 80 and 140.
- Some improvements appear after 2020, especially in Chennai and Mumbai.
- Even with improvements, values do not reach consistently safe ranges.

BENGALURU SHOWS THE BEST AIR QUALITY — BUT STILL NOT SAFE

- AQI remains between 65 and 90 most years.
- Although comparatively cleaner, these values still exceed the 'Good' category.
- Rapid urbanization and vehicle growth prevent the city from falling into safe ranges

"Moving to another city for cleaner air isn't a real solution…people who spend more time outdoors, like street vendors, sanitation staff, transport workers and construction workers, feel the impact the most. Over time, pollution also influences the quality of life, productivity, and economic well-being. Instead of short-term fixes…investing in systemic change is the only way to truly tackle the country's pollution crisis

— Palak Balyan, research lead, Climate Trends

POLLUTION MATTERS: REASONS

1. Absence of rain from October 1-November 28 prevented natural pollutant washout
2. Winter inversion creating atmospheric "lid," trapping cool air below warm layers and restricting vertical mixing
3. The Himalayas block airflow to the north, pollutants accumulate through December and January

New evidence connects intensive pesticide exposure to neurological disorders

USHA PERI @ Vishakhapatnam

A POPULATION-based study conducted in a rural block of West Bengal's Purba Bardhaman district has revealed worrying levels of cognitive impairment, depression and possible movement disorders among agricultural workers, raising fresh concerns about long-term pesticide exposure and its impact on brain health.

The study, titled, "Pesticide exposure associated with mild cognitive impairment & depression among agricultural workers: Case control study in rural India," aimed to understand the burden of neurological disorders of neuroinflammatory origin among people aged 50 years and above, designed with robust sampling methods. Researchers expected a minimum 10 per cent prevalence of common neuropsychiatric conditions and calculated a sample size of 138 individuals for initial screening.

Of the 808 individuals screened, 180 (22.3 per cent) tested positive for cognitive impairment, depression, both conditions together or possible movement disorders. Cognitive impairment alone accounted for 56 pc of these cases, while 28.9 pc showed both cognitive impairment and depression. Another 12 participants showed signs of movement disorders.

The demographic profile reflected the agricultural nature of the region with nearly 77 pc of participants being men, and 268 individuals directly involved in farming activities as landowners, sharecroppers or agricultural labourers. Organophosphorus compounds emerged as the most commonly used pesticides, and many workers reported using multiple pesticides simultaneously.

Statistical analysis showed strong associations between neurological symptoms and several agricultural factors. Longer exposure to pesticides over 30 years was significantly linked to higher disease risk. Working more than eight hours a day in the fields and frequent handling of pesticides also showed notable correlations. Men were at higher risk of being screened positive, and lifetime alcohol use had a clear association with neurological symptoms.

Ethnic differences also emerged. Tribal participants recorded lower cognitive scores compared to Bengali participants, falling within ranges suggesting mild cognitive impairment (MCI). Women diagnosed as cases showed significantly lower cognition scores than men, hinting at greater severity despite lower prevalence.

One of the most concerning findings was among agricultural labourers who worked exclusively in farming. This subgroup recorded the lowest cognitive scores, highest impairment in daily living and the highest depression scores. These observations underlined the elevated vulnerability of workers directly exposed to pesticides compared to landowners or sharecroppers who may also have other occupations.

The study also measured biomarkers such as AChE, BChE and PON1 that typically indicate organophosphorus exposure. While no significant case-control differences were found, researchers believe this was due to underpowered sampling caused by pandemic-related disruptions. Still, PON1 levels were noticeably higher in participants working longer daily hours or using pesticides more frequently, suggesting sensitivity to exposure intensity. When placed against national and global research, the study's findings align with broader evidence. Previous studies have linked pesticide exposure to cognitive decline in countries such as Korea, Greece, Mexico and Chile. International research also shows that depression often co-exists with cognitive impairment, sometimes reaching up to 32 pc prevalence, mirroring this study's observation of 33 pc. Movement disorder indications, though low at 1.5 pc, are consistent with global Parkinson's disease prevalence in seniors.

However, the researchers acknowledged certain limitations. "Because all participants lived in the same agricultural zone, even controls may have had indirect exposure to pesticides, potentially affecting comparisons. A third control group from a non-agricultural area would strengthen future research," they said. The team also noted that the original plan to provide clinical diagnoses by neurologists could not proceed due to COVID-19 restrictions.

Despite these limitations, the study presents a clear and concerning picture. Prolonged and intensive exposure to pesticides is emerging as a major risk factor for neurological problems in rural farming communities. With neuroinflammatory diseases increasing worldwide, the findings underline the need for safer pesticide practices, greater awareness among farmers, and long-term monitoring to understand how continuous exposure may contribute to cognitive and neurological decline.

MAHIMA NAGARAJU

FOR the first time last week, India played host to the Billie Jean King Cup's playoffs, at the SM Krishna Stadium. Amidst the intense competition between The Netherlands, India and Slovenia, world number 163 Tamara Zidansek defeated India's Shrivalli Bhamidipaty with a 2-1 score, advancing to the qualifiers. We caught up with her for a brief talk on everything from the secret to her composure to Bengaluru travel plans, while veteran tennis player and Indian team captain Vishal Uppal weighed in on where the home team went wrong, the secret to nurturing champions and more. Excerpts:

Compared to when you were playing in the 2000s, how has Indian tennis changed?
There's lot more awareness now. You can see how the girls worked hard with little support and reached a world playoff stage, which tells you the game is growing in the country. I've often said tennis is one of the popular sports but the worst marketed. We need to make sure that we get current and future generations the opportunities which we never got.

Among all the players you've coached, mentored and played with, are there any that really left an impression on you?
If I were to single out one person, that would be unfair to everyone that I've coached. I've been fortunate enough to have a very beautiful relationship with all my trainees, whether they've gone on to play serious tennis or not. While I'm considered a teacher or a coach, I'm actually a student because kids can teach you so much if you're willing to learn.

What have your students taught you?
Every kid brings a unique quality and you have to be open to understand that in order to help them. It's a thought provoking process, not a one-size fits all situation. You have to tackle people's personalities.

India lost to Slovenia in the play offs by a small margin. What do you think of the team's performance – what did they do well and where did they slip up?
My team gets an A+ for effort. All the girls really fought hard. The Slovenians were better in their athleticism and maturity. You could see why they are top 100 players, because when the match was getting tight, they just became more solid. That's something we have to learn because at top level tennis, if you give too many free points, it hurts you.

Do you have a core or overarching philosophy as a mentor? How do you keep the team motivated after losses?
While everyone made a big thing about us creating history, we're fighting for something bigger – equality and opportunities for women in sports. I don't think I need to motivate my girls for that, they're motivated themselves because they are the true ambassadors of women's tennis in India and they understand their struggles.

What's next for the team?
We will reassess what we did well, what we struggled with and then the work will begin again.

'Coming out against a home team is always difficult'

WHAT were some of the emotions running through your mind during the match in Bengaluru?
It was tough, I feel like we had one of the toughest set-ups because we played The Netherlands who are the favourites. It was a long day and then, we came out against the home team which is always difficult. We had no days off, so it was hard to stay focused, but I'm really happy that I managed to do it.

You've got a reputation of having great composure. How do you cultivate mental strength, especially with the pressure that comes with playing at the international level?
I've had ups and downs in my career where I wasn't able to do that. But I've been able to by just focusing on myself, knowing that losing a tennis match doesn't mean everything at the end of the day, trying to separate tennis and my personal life and staying true to myself.

What does playing in the Billie Jean King Cup mean to you personally, given the history, the legacy of the tournament?
We've had so much fun in our competitions, and we've done amazing things for our country. It's always fun to have those two or three weeks during the year where a team comes together because it's a little different from what a player experiences on tour when travelling by themselves – it's a little more fun, relaxed, there's company, so it's always nice.

During your stay in Bengaluru, have you been able to try out any local delicacies here?
No, we're trying to stay really careful with that. But we do have a day off so we're going to try and see some things and look around Bengaluru.

What's one unconventional training habit you swear by, but most people wouldn't have guessed about you?
I used to hate running, but now I love it. I like to run and do intervals; I don't think people like that, but I enjoy it!

What's the next big goal that motivates you?
Trying to develop as a person through tennis, through the challenges that tennis brings. It's just managing your emotions day in, day out and the expectations that come with tennis.

WHAT'S BEST: WHEY PROTEIN ISOLATE VS WHEY PROTEIN CONCENTRATE

WHAT IS WHEY PROTEIN

When milk is used to make cheese, the leftover liquid is called whey. This liquid contains high-quality protein. This protein is then dried to be processed into powder form. This protein powder contains nine essential amino acids which is essential to help you stay healthy.

THERE ARE TWO TYPES OF WHEY PROTEIN:

- Whey Protein Concentrate (WPC)
- Whey Protein Isolate (WPI)

THE DIFFERENCE BETWEEN BOTH

1) Protein Purity

- Concentrate: Around 70-80% protein per scoop.
- Isolate: More refined, typically 90 per cent+ protein per scoop, because of additional filtration.

2) Lactose & Digestion

- WPC has more lactose, which may cause digestion issues for lactose-sensitive individuals.
- WPI has very little or no lactose, making it more easily digestible.

3) Fat and Carbohydrates

- Concentrate retains modest fats and carbs.
- Isolate is very low in fats and carbs, as most are removed during processing.

4) Calories

- Concentrate has slightly more calories because of the additional fat and lactose.
- Isolate tends to have fewer calories per scoop because of higher protein-to-extras ratio.

5) Cost

- Whey concentrate is usually cheaper. Whey isolate is more expensive, since it requires more processing to strip out lactose, fats, and carbs.

6) Taste and Texture

- Concentrate often tastes creamier and richer, thanks to its fat content.
- Isolate has a cleaner, lighter taste and usually mixes better.

BENEFITS

Whey Protein Isolate

- High Protein, low calorie, therefore ideal for lean muscle or cutting.
- Easier on digestion for lactose intolerant.
- Great for post workout recovery as it gets absorbed quickly.

Whey Protein Concentrate

- Gives quality protein at lower price.
- Contains milk nutrients like immunoglobulins and lactoferrin.
- The creamy texture make is tasty.

Based on the benefits and personal health goals, you can choose the correct whey protein for you. The objective is to choose right for your body rather than going behind whatever is present on internet.

PHOSSCON 2025 to Champion Holistic Care in the Fight Against Childhood Cancer

CanKids...KidsCan, India's leading national NGO dedicated to childhood cancer, announced PHOSSCON 2025, a major two-day national conference focused on integrating cure and care to improve childhood cancer outcomes. The event began yesterday and will conclude today in Udupi, Karnataka, bringing together 128 participants, including paediatric oncologists, nurses, psychosocial specialists, researchers, NGOs, caregivers, CSR leaders and senior representatives from CanKids.

The conference was inaugurated by the organisation's Founder and Chairperson, Poonam Bagai, herself a childhood cancer survivor, whose presence highlighted the resilience and hope that PHOSSCON aims to inspire across India. The initiative aligns with the country's commitment to the Global Initiative for Childhood Cancer, reinforcing efforts to close survival gaps and improve equitable access to treatment.

Positioned as a neutral national platform, PHOSSCON facilitates collaboration among key stakeholders from India and abroad. Delegates will engage in workshops, expert discussions and survivor-led sessions designed to promote coordinated, compassionate and comprehensive care.

"PHOSSCON is where science, compassion and community meet," said Poonam Bagai. "Together, we can ensure that every child receives not only the chance of a cure, but complete care."

AMBITIOUS, MODERN AND SELF-AWARE

FLIRT
Director: Chandan Kumar
Cast: Chandan Kumar, Girish Shivanna, Nimika Ratnakar, Akshitha Boppaiah Sadhu Kokila, Shruti, and Rangayana Raghu

A SHARADHAA

CHANDAN Kumar's debut, Flirt, might seem scandalous at the start. However, as the story unfolds, it becomes a deeper exploration of desire, friendship, and perception. The word 'flirt' often appears in headlines or gossip. Here, it takes on a richer meaning. It's playful, charming, and complicated.

The film starts in a courtroom where Krishna (Chandan Kumar) faces serious allegations. Veteran lawyer Sadhu Simha (Sadhu Kokila) takes him on as his last case. Manya (Akshitha Bopaiah) and her lawyer Sathya (Shruthi) present videos, photos, and chat logs that paint Krishna as a self-proclaimed flirt, who calls her his supposed 99th conquest. Yet the story avoids settling on a single truth. It invites viewers to look beyond labels.

Flirt examines how we see things. Krishna is not just one person, but many. One perspective shows him as a flashy gym trainer who thrives in Bengaluru's nightlife. He *flirt*s openly and pulls playful pranks. Another perspective shows him as a focused office worker saving for his brother's house and as a sincere lover with Saniha (Nimika Ratnakar), who experiences heartbreak with quiet dignity. Through these varying perspectives, the film asks: Who is Krishna, and who gets to define him?

RATING 3.5/5

If the film focused solely on romance, it might seem superficial. However, friendship quietly serves as the moral backbone. Krishna's relationship with Bala (Girish Shivanna) is central, showcasing loyalty, honesty, and emotional responsibility. Bala challenges Krishna, reflects his contradictions, and grounds him amidst chaos. Chandan Kumar's direction shines here, blending sensitivity and clarity in the writing, dialogue, and screenplay.

Additionally, the way the debut director portrays his female leads is impressive. Flirt does not reduce Saniha or Manya to mere plot devices. Saniha is strong and complex, while Manya reflects the tone of modern relationships. Their independence, setting boundaries, expressing intentions, and navigating love in a contemporary city bring a fresh and socially aware dimension to the film. Bengaluru, its gyms, pubs, and apartments, becomes a character in its own right, highlighting freedom, dilemmas, and subtle power dynamics of city life.

Structurally, the film thrives on surprises. Each testimony, flashback, and different account adds new layers to Krishna and Bala, keeping viewers guessing and shifting sympathies. Courtroom debates showcase wit and moments of absurdity, while humour relieves tension without undermining the stakes. The editing keeps the multiple timelines clear, though at times the film feels slightly stretched. Venu's cinematography is stylish and precise, the production design is subtle yet effective, and Jassie Gift's music flows smoothly, highlighted by Sudeep's delicate tribute to friendship that resonates without overpowering the story.

The performances anchor the film. Chandan Kumar convincingly portrays Krishna's dual nature. Girish Shivanna confidently takes on a parallel lead role. Nimika Ratnakar is quietly impactful as Saniha, while Vinay Gowda and Akshitha Bopaiah add depth. Veteran actors Rangayana Raghu, Sadhu Kokila, Shruthi, and Avinash elevate the film effortlessly, balancing humour, tension, and seriousness.

Flirt is ambitious, modern, and self-aware. It explores contemporary relationships, perception, and the interplay between friendship and desire. It is neither a conventional love story nor a scandal aimed at eliciting shock value. It reflects how we are perceived, how we act, and how trust and loyalty shape our choices. The film leaves you smiling at the commotion of human connections, appreciating its layers, and reminding you that life, much like Krishna, is always a little bit of a flirt.

The fun side of the afterlife

GST
Director: Srujan Lokesh
Cast: Srujan Lokesh, Rajani Bharadwaj, Girija Lokesh, Shobraj, Ravishankar Gowda, Tabla Nani, Sharath Lohitashwa, Girish Shivanna, Vinod Gobbragala, Nivedita Gowda and Sukruth

A SHARADHAA

TITLES can be misleading. GST wears that mischief on its sleeve. It is not about taxes, systems, bills or the country's favourite alphabet soup. It is about ghosts. Not the horror variety, but the emotional remains of people who left with stories half-spoken and wounds half-stitched. And walking into their silence is Lucky (Srujan Lokesh), a man who believes he is a mistake wrapped in skin. When your most honest friends turn out to be dead people, the film quietly asks what that says about the living.

Srujan Lokesh's directorial debut arrives with the comfort of a known face. Television made him a household name with the reality show, Majaa Talkies, and it shaped his timing, his comedy and the easy charm families lean towards every weekend. Anyone who has watched him closely knows he can slip into seriousness, too. In GST, he blends humour and gravity with natural ease.

Lucky is convinced that fate has singled him out for failure. His father (Ashok), tired and defeated, asks him to leave after the family loses his wife and Lucky's mother (Vinaya Prasad). The moment is not cruel. It is a portrait of helplessness. Lucky spirals into despair and finds himself in a burial ground after a failed attempt to end his life. This is where the film truly begins, in a space where endings slowly turn into beginnings.

The ghosts he meets are not gag machines. They carry ordinary fractures from everyday life. Shanthamma (Girija Lokesh) avoids speaking about her son, an auto driver, because some wounds do not heal even after death. Prabhakar (Tabla Nani) and his son (Sukruth) carry the weight of an accident that society moved past without thought. Hanumanthu (Vinod Gobbagaragala) became another forgotten name during the pandemic. Tanya (Niveditha Gowda) grew up under relatives who value control more than care. Ramesh (Aravind Rau) is a reminder of dreams cut short by greed.

None of these stories scream for attention. They are quiet bruises that shape middle-class lives. Srujan does not sentimentalise them. He presents them with restraint, giving the audience space to recognise truths they have seen in their own circles.

RATING 3/5

Lucky and his friend (Girish Shivanna) are the only living people who can see these spirits. They form an understanding. The ghosts piece together Lucky's broken confidence, keep him steady and help him to express his gentle affection for Nidhi (Rajani Bharadwaj). In return, Lucky tries to help them close the chapters they left incomplete.

Their plan to solve their problems is wildly filmi, a little absurd and oddly fitting for the world GST builds. It involves a bank and a very particular type of money. The less said, the better, because the delight lies in how the film uses this idea to flip its tone.

Just when things seem manageable, real chaos walks in. Lucky and his group enter the bank. A gang led by Shobaraj arrives with confidence, followed by more trouble. The bank locks down. Lucky pretends to understand the situation while the ghosts create havoc that only he can sense. This stretch is GST at its liveliest. Sharp edits, strong reactions and clean comic beats combine with a brand of comedy Kannada cinema often forgets. Ravishankar Gowda as the confused bank manager, Shobaraj as the unpredictable burglar and Sharath Lohitashwa as the inspector turn the segment into playful chaos.

As a director, Srujan stays focused and steady, sometimes casual enough to let the characters take the lead. As an actor, he avoids overplaying emotion and stays committed to the film's tone. Rajani Bharadwaj fits the film's gentle emotional pitch. The supporting cast from Girija Lokesh to Tabla Nani, Girish Shivanna, Vinod Gobbagaragala, Aravind Rau and debutant Sukruth perform with ease and blend into the film's fabric without overreaching.

Technically, the film remains committed to its mood. Cinematographer Gundlupet Suresh keeps the visuals colourful. Chandan Shetty's music shifts between comic, serious and spectral without losing balance. The editing keeps the narrative tight and avoids unnecessary detours.

GST is not a ghost story. It is a story about the living, told through the dead. In a world that rarely pauses to listen, it is strangely poetic that the only voices willing to sit with someone's pain are the ones that have already crossed over.

Shrek 5 adds Skyler Gisondo and Marcello Hernandez to cast

CE FEATURES

EARLIER, we reported about Mike Myers, Cameron Diaz and Eddie Murphy coming back to voice Shrek, Fiona and Donkey, respectively, for a fifth film in the animated franchise. The latest development from Shrek 5 is that Skyler Gisondo, known for his role in James Gunn's Superman, and Saturday Night Live (SNL) star Marcello Hernández have joined the film's cast. Gisondo and Hernández will lend their voices to Shrek and Fiona's sons, Farkle and Fergus, respectively. Zendaya is also part of the film as the two aforementioned characters' daughter, Felicia. Franchise veterans Walt Dohrn and Conrad Vernon are directing the film, with Brad Ableson serving as a co-director.

Dohrn served as a screenwriter and a voice artist for the second and third films in the franchise, in additon to being the Head of Story for Shrek Forever After.
